

FIRE PREVENTION IS APPLYING GOOD SENSE, SAFETY SCHOOL TOLD

H. J. Rogers, Fire Prevention Expert, Pictures Huge Loss in Money and Lives

"Fire prevention is not a science, but is the application of common sense," Harry J. Rogers, chief engineer of the fire prevention department of the Western Actuarial bureau, told more than 300 people at a meeting of the Foreman's Safety school in the Crystal room of the Conway hotel Wednesday night.

In his lecture pointed out the need of study of fire hazards in the home, shop and office. He said that losses by fire amounted to over $1,000,000,000 a year in the United States, 15,000 lives were lost and 17,000 people were made dependent on charity. To illustrate just how much $1,000,000,000 is he stated that "an average of 365,000 people pass over Brooklyn bridge every day, and if each one were given a Ford car for five days, the cost of the cars would amount to nearly $1,000,000,000."

George P. McGilgan, chief of the fire department, who presided at the meeting, said in all his experience at such meetings he had never heard the subject of fire prevention handled so impressively as Mr. Rogers' talk.

Mr. Rogers, who is a well-known fire expert, said that he wished everyone in the city could have heard the lecture and hoped Mr. Rogers might be able to visit Appleton again in the near future.

Mr. Rogers, familiarly known to children as the "fire clown," formerly was chief of the Wichita, Kansas, fire department. He has given special meetings for school children and has an original method of impressing upon their minds the seriousness of the fire question. His clownish acting of mock-fire fighting keeps the children laughing until they are tired and ready to listen to more serious things.

Mr. Rogers shows the children how to avoid fires in the home and school and what to do in emergencies.

Mr. Rogers Wednesday night kept the audience in a roar of laughter for a quarter of an hour with funny stories then proceeded with the more serious side of the question of fire and its effects and prevention.

LOCAL STUDENTS GIVE $52 FOR RELIEF FUND

A valentine gift of more than $52 was sent by Appleton high school to Frank Kasten, Milwaukee, treasurer of the Wisconsin branch of Near East Relief workers, for the benefit of the orphan children of the Near East.

Instead of banking on the regular day last week, students were asked to contribute to the Near East Relief Fund. The money will be used to help feed, clothe, and educate children of the Near East. The valentine contribution was made by all the public schools of the country.

BEG PARDON

The fire department was called to the home of Edward Ritzer, 513 N. Garfield street Wednesday morning, when a short circuit in a radio battery caused a room to be filled with smoke. Wednesday's Post-Crescent stated that the department had been called to the home of Allen A. Fraser but it was learned that fire department records from which the information was taken, were inaccurate.

STORM BOOMS BUSINESS AT MUNICIPAL "HOTEL"

The "snowstorm" Wednesday night caused ten "knights of the road" to apply at the police station for free lodging and breakfast. On Tuesday night, four were given lodging. The number of lodgers this winter has been exceptionally heavy, the records show. In January more than 130 were given lodging and from two to ten men have been accommodated each night in February.

A Wonderful New Self-Treatment for RUPTURE

Costs Nothing to Try

Ruptured people all over the country are amazed at the miraculous results of a simple method for rupture that is being sent free to all who write for it. This remarkable system is one of the greatest blessings ever offered ruptured men, women and children. It is being pronounced the most successful ever discovered, and makes the use of trusses or supports unnecessary.

No matter how bad your rupture, how long you have had it, or how hard to hold, no matter how many trusses you have worn, let nothing prevent you getting this FREE TREATMENT. Whether you think you are past help, or have a rupture as large as your fists, this marvelous system will so control it and keep it up inside as to surprise you with its magic influence. It will so help you restore the parts where the rupture comes through that soon you will be as free to work as any occupation as though you had never been ruptured.

You can have a free trial of this wonderful strengthening preparation by merely writing, Capt. W. A. Collins, Inc., 1327 N. Collins Building, Watertown, N. Y. Send no money. The trial is free. Write now—today. It may save wearing a truss the rest of your life.

Lawrence First Offered To Kaukauna, Pioneer Says

How Lawrence college came to be located in Appleton and the manner in which the first road from Kaukauna to Appleton and then to near Wrightstown was cut out of the forests of Outagamie-co is described in a paper read before Outagamie-co Pioneer association Wednesday by John D. Lawe, Kaukauna.

Mr. Lawe also relates how several of the city's streets, especially those east of the Lawrence campus received their names. His paper follows:

"Reviewing old times I can hardly realize the wonderful change and improvements that have taken place, particularly the development and prosperity of the city of Appleton. I recall when quite a young lad of seeing this section a vast wilderness, indeed, with the howling of wolves, and the whoop of Indians echoing through the valley. There were no roads or habitations aside from an Indian trail that ran along the river, and two log rafts at the upper landing at Grand Chute, one occupied by Paul Grignon and the other by a Mr. McNag.

"My father owned a large tract of this land, and an uncle of mine, John P. Meade, of Green Bay, owned a small strip adjoining.

"INDIANS' HELP

"Father was desirous of having a wagon road opened through this land, and finding help scarce, consulted with a number of his Kaukauna neighbors. Receiving no encouragement, he finally called on the head chief of the Menominee Indians who had his lodge and part of his tribe camped at Little Chute. After explaining the necessity and benefits derived from the road, and that his men would not have to transport their canoes and supplies over the portage, the old chief saw the practicability of the project and said he would assemble and advise his people of the importance of the contemplated undertaking.

"A few days later the old chief with nearly two hundred Indians with axes, appeared at my father's store ready for work and under father's supervision the work commenced, resulting in a short time in the blazing of the road to Grand Chute. Later on, during the season, he opened the road to the Wrightstown ferry which connected with the military road, which extended from that place to Green Bay.

"In 1847 Amos A. Lawrence, of Boston, considered the establishing of an educational institute in this valley, and sent Rev. Reeder Smith, his emissary, to look up a site. During Mr. Smith's investigation, being favorably impressed with Kaukauna, he "tried to persuade my father to give his homestead property and the institute would be located there. But to father it was home and he would not part with it. However, being interested in educational advantages, and that the Fox river valley might have such an institute, he deeded 30 acres which is now the college property in Appleton. Mr. Meade also deeded his adjacent strip of land, the deeds of which are on record in the office of the registrar of deeds in the court house. In father's deed is a clause or proviso that should the land donated by him, or any part of it be disposed of, or the college cease to exist as an educational institution, the land would revert back to his heirs."

"In the fall of 1848 arrangements were made for building the institute, which was completed in 1849, with the exception of the plastering in the rooms on the third story. The structure was located on a site back of the armory overlooking a ravine, and the first term opened in the fall of 1849. Rev. William H. Sampson, principal, Prof. James M. Phinny, instructor of mathematics, Prof. Kellogg, Miss Kellogg, and Mrs. Crocker, preceptress, composed the faculty. My sister and myself were enrolled among the first scholars, and in 1853 and 1859, I returned and attended the college.

"Lawesburg, now one of the wards of the city, was incorporated as a village by father, who named a number of streets: Lawe, Meade, Rankin, after his mother, and John, after myself. John S. Buck acted as his agent until most of the lots were disposed of and the village was annexed to the city.

"A gain retracing my steps down the long avenues of years, I note the changes made by the relentless hand of time, bringing into existence a beautiful flourishing city, with its large number of factories, paper mills, beautiful homes, churches and Lawrence college, one of the best educational institutes in the United States."

Goitre Not a Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

Milwaukee, Wis. — It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. 680, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. MIKE TO RUN AGAIN BUT COMMITTEE JOB CAN GO ELSEWHERE

Alderman Mike Steinhauser is going to seek reelection this spring but is not keen about being appointed chairman of the street and bridge committee.

A story concerning Mr. Steinhauser, printed Wednesday, quoted him as saying "I would not take the job again if it was handed to me on a silver platter." "The job" referred to was the chairmanship of the committee. Mike was busy explaining the facts to his friends Thursday.

SHAKESPERIAN PLAY READY FOR CURTAIN

Sunset Players Will Present "Twelfth Night" at Lawrence Chapel Tonight

William Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" will be presented in the Lawrence Memorial chapel this evening by a cast of college players, members of Sunset dramatic group. The play is under the direction of Miss Lucile Welby of the public speaking department and the cast includes students who have all distinguished themselves in previous dramatic work.

Music for the Shakesperian comedy will be in charge of Professor Percy Fullinwider of the Lawrence conservatory and a corps of college students has been engaged as ushers. Tickets for the play have been sold by members of Sunset players during the past three weeks and advance indications are that a large crowd will witness the production.

DOCTORS SHOW HOW TO END BRONCHIAL COUGH

Worry Relieved When She Tries Hospital Tested Method in Her Own Home

No longer is it necessary to use needless guesswork in choosing the quickest and surest way to get rid of a deep seated cold, or even a cough caused by bronchitis. Now a unique method now recommended by physicians has brought quick and lasting relief to numbers of Appleton people who have used it in their homes.

Mrs. H. H. Gibbons, for instance, was treated for a severe cold complicated with bronchitis. Cough syrups had given her only temporary relief and she became so ill she was forced to quit work. Then, on the advice of her doctor she started taking double doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—a concentrated mixture of wild cherry, white pine, glycerine, turpentine and other ingredients which have relieved even the most extreme hospital cases.

Relief began with the first pleasant swallow. She felt its comforting, healing warmth as it penetrated through

3 EXPERIENCED MEN COME BEFORE PUBLIC IN RACE FOR MAYOR

Rule, Goodland and Hawes
Are Not Strangers to Executive Position

When Appleton voters go to the polls on primary election day, Tuesday, March 13, to make their choice for mayor they will confront a situation unique in local city government, in that all three candidates have had experience as mayor of the city. As one candidate commented, "The city has trained all three men and now will choose the one which it thinks has been best."

J. Austin Hawes was mayor from 1918 when the aldermanic form of government was re-adopted, continuing to 1922 when he retired. Henry Reed, followed Mr. Hawes in office and then retired, being succeeded by John Goodland. Mr. Goodland was followed by the present mayor, A. C. Rule who defeated him when he ran for reelection.

A resume of the activities of the three candidates for mayor will refer once to their public life follows:

Albert C. Rule is the present mayor of Appleton. He came to this city as a youngst 19 years old and has lived here since. His experience in public service started as assessor of water, a position he held for five years. He then entered into the city hall as an assessor. He occupied this office for two years, relinquishing it when he decided to run for mayor. He was elected mayor in 1926 and is finishing his last term of office.

John Goodland, Jr., was born in Appleton and lived here all his life. At the time he stepped from the mayor's chair in 1926 he had been in public office for 17 years out of 26 years. His first public office was that of city treasurer, to which he was elected in 1909. Under the commission form of government he was elected one of the three commissioners and held office for four years. Retiring from politics for several years he returned to public life in 1924 when he was elected mayor.

He was defeated for reelection in 1926 by Mayor A. C. Rule in 1926.

J. Austin Hawes came to this city in 1918 starting in business here as a merchant. After retiring from active connection with the business he was appointed representative for a large corporation, which position he held until 1922.

RIPON PRESIDENT URGES R. O. T. C. FOR NATION'S DEFENSE

Describes Himself as Peace Lover in Talk Before University Students

Madison—(AP)—If there is to be any form of defense whatever, the R. O. T. C. is the most economical, scientific, realistic and thorough form a democracy can adopt. Dr. Elias Evans, president of Ripon college, said in a speech at the University of Wisconsin Wednesday night.

Dr. Evans, speaking here under auspices of the Reserve Officers' association, on the subject, "A peace lover's defense of the R. O. T. C.," asked: "Are we to be absolutely defenseless from the standpoint of military preparation? Are the backward nations of the world perfectly safe unpunished? Do we need a provision for an emergency in America calling for police force? Would you favor, in case of an invasion, any fighting at all for your homes? If so, is there any advantage in poor training?"

"I am assuming, of course, that military preparedness is the weakest aspect of our national defense. Peace defense is primary. Yet if there is to be any measure of preparedness, will you favor an adequate and scientific preparedness in the measure that it is expedient?"

Dr. Evans said he does not believe that other complete unpreparedness or preparedness will secure peace, averring that "if there is to be any form of pacifism, let it be active pacifism. Mollycoddles will never secure peace, except it be the peace of death."

Neither one extreme nor the other availed anything, but a new mind and a new heart. We have war primarily because we believe in war.

"The big theme today is education for peace, in schools and colleges. On the same campus with the R. O. T. C.

SPORTS NEWS OF NEENAH AND MENASHA SOCIETY

FRATERNITY CLUB OF NEENAH GIVES PARTY FOR DADS AND LADS

Banquet and Volleyball Games Will Be Feature of Thursday Night Meeting

Neenah — Annual Father and Son night will be observed Thursday evening by the Fraternity club at its meeting at Wesley hall and for which an elaborate program has been arranged. Dinner will be served at 6:30 under direction of a committee of which Henry Miller is chairman. The Rev. John Best, pastor of the Congregational church, Menasha, will be the speaker of the evening, his subject to be "Playing Fair with Tomorrow."

The program will open with invocation by the Rev. T. J. Reydahl, pastor of First Methodist church, followed by singing "Faith of Our Fathers" by the assembly. W. K. Gerbrich, president of Fraternity club, will give the address of welcome with a quartet of songs. A quartet of songs will be given by the "Dads" and "Lads" will be given. After another selection by the "Dads," the speaker of the evening will be introduced. The program will close with the singing of "America."

Following the program and supper, a volleyball tournament involving 14 fathers and a corresponding number of sons will be played for the championship of the district. The team of the "Old Birds" captained by H. C. Hoyman and composed of Warren Herrick, Fred Olson, Sr., the Rev. T. J. Reydahl, E. G. Zabel, J. W. Armstrong and Roy Babcock, Sr., will play the "Young Roosters" captained by Frederick Herrick, Jr., of a team composed of Donald Olson, Lowell Reydahl, Lowell Zabel, Ernest Hoyman, Arnold Armstrong and Roy Babcock, Jr. Three games will be played.

INTEREST GROWS IN COMING CAGE GAME

Neenah Beats Lawrence Frosh in Practice for Menasha Game Friday

Neenah — The high school basketball team, in a practice game with Lawrence college freshman team, at S. A. Cook armory Wednesday afternoon, won by a score of 37 to 28. Coach Ole Jorgensen started Haase, Schneller, Pratt, Johnson and Radtke, who, in turn, replaced Pratt, playing guard for Ehlers who was absent. Later, H. Neubauer replaced Nelson. The practice was conducted to get the Neenah team in shape for the Friday evening game with Menasha.

The sale of reserved seat tickets for the Neenah-Menasha game were placed on sale at three different places at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening and in 10 minutes every one of the 244 seats were taken. It is expected that the crowd to witness this game will be the largest ever gathering for a game at S. A. Cook armory. There were more than 1200 admissions for the game by these two teams earlier in the season.

The second team, practicing for the Friday night curtain raiser, was defeated by the Black Jacks by a score of 17 to 11.

One of the high school algebra classes, in order to raise money for a banquet for the basketball team, has started a campaign for selling a small tin which is inscribed "Neenah-Menasha." The tin is sold at five cents each among the pupils and townspeople.

Neenah — The Waupaca high school negative debating team will come to Neenah next Wednesday evening to argue with the affirmative team in the northeastern conference triangle. The Neenah negative team will go to Sturgeon Bay to meet the affirmative team on March 1. The result of the next two debates will decide whether the Neenah school will be entered in the district competition.

WOMANS CAGE SQUAD BEATS LAWRENCE TEAM

Neenah — The Young Women's club basketball team went to Appleton Wednesday evening and defeated a Lawrence college "ladies" team in a practice game by a score of 22 to 18. The game was played at Alexander gymnasium.

MAKING CHANGES IN BUSINESS SECTION

Several New Stores to Be Opened and Others Will Change Management

Neenah — Several changes are to be made here in the business section within the next month by the opening of new stores and change of ownership.

Chief among new activities will be the opening of a new drug store in the Greenwood building on N. Commercial-st. by Kenneth Mace and the opening of a haberdashery by Hugh Falvey in the Barrett building on N. Commercial-st. Both buildings have been remodeled to accommodate the businesses.

A new soft drink parlor will be opened on W. Wisconsin-ave. by Edward Martin and A. W. Jorgensen, conducting an art store on W. Wisconsin-ave. has been forced to move on account of the remodeling of his store to accommodate the present occupies the store just west. The two stores will be remodeled into one. Mr. Jorgensen is arranging to remove to part of the building on W. Wisconsin-ave. formerly occupied by the Neenah Dairy company, which is being remodeled to accommodate a chain store.

It is understood that the George M. Schmidt store on W. Wisconsin-ave. to be vacant in the near future as Mr. Schmidt is to discontinue the retail cigar business and devote his time entirely to the wholesale work. A change is to be made in the management of the Draheim and Pingle pool room and restaurant establishment as William Draheim is to purchase the interests held by John Pingle, who will retire.

NEENAH TAXPAYERS SLOW IN SETTLING

Week Left Before Penalty Starts but Only Half of Tax Roll Is Paid in

Neenah — One more week remains for the collection of the city taxes, both personal and real estate, before the 2 percent addition charge will be assessed. Up to the present time there has been collected $223,139.30 of which $192,186.83 was for real estate and $30,952.47 for personal property. The total amount to be collected in the city is $434,123.03 which leaves a total of $210,986.73 yet to be collected.

Up to the present time, several of the large manufacturing plants have not paid their annual taxes which are quite large.

For the accommodation of the late comers, the office of the city treasurer will remain open on Feb. 27, 28 and 29, from 9 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock in the evening.

BELANGER ADDRESSES ROTARIANS AT NEENAH

Neenah — F. N. Belanger, manager of the Appleton telephone exchange, was the speaker Thursday noon, at the weekly meeting of Rotary club. Mr. Belanger spoke upon the relationship between the twin cities and Appleton by telephone. He also told of the great improvements made in the phone accommodations in the valley in the last few years.

The club had as its guests at the dinner, the eight high school honor students, Naomi Gibson, Max Sielaff, Viola Hellerman, Arthur Hanson, Gwendolyn Breglinger, Carl Breaker, Howard Kellett and Irene Hoyman.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder; where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread that the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very painful; again there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of J. I. Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

J. I. Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by the thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acidity. J. I. Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

It is now a pleasant, effervescent, lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

THE BIG STORE ON THE CORNER ANSPACH DEPT. STORE NEENAH

Fifty-six years later, Wednesday, Feb. 22, there was another gathering of Outagamie pioneers in Appleton. Many of them were children when the pioneers association was organized. But as these younger people go about perpetuating the institution of their parents, they still follow the same procedure: business meetings in the morning, noon luncheon to renew old

The afternoon program opened shortly after 1:30. The first speaker, W. E. Smith, president of the association, opened his address by introducing the pioneers over 50 years of age who were present: They were Mrs. Ann B. Diener, Appleton; John D.

"The age of its oldest church is usually the age of a community," Mr. Hardwood said. "Whenever men settle to establish a community one of the first institutions established is a church. Spiritual accomplishments are those which stand out and should stand out among every group of people." The speaker closed his address with a tribute to the spiritual side of life reminding his listeners that "the sunset of today is the sunrise of tomorrow."

Another speaker of the afternoon was Judge Henry Kriess. He recalled the days of paper manufacturing plants, as applied to the only one in the state, telling of the change from the old method of making paper from

IMPORTANCE OF FINGERPRINTS
The identification division of the department of justice has a file of approximately 1,000,000 fingerprints of persons arrested for felonies in the United States and Canada, and is receiving between 600 and 700 new prints a day. A single incident demonstrates the importance of these records.

In St. Louis, following the tornado there, the chief of police proposed to appoint a number of temporary policemen. He sent to the department of justice the fingerprints of 545 men he was going to appoint. Of these ten were found to have had previous criminal records. Two had been convicted and had served sentences for petit larceny, one for grand larceny, one for desertion, one for desertion and larceny, one for seduction and one for burglary. One was wanted for investigation. In addition to these the Chief of Police of St. Louis reported that their own bureau found eleven others, making a total of twenty-one persons with criminal records who would have been appointed to police duty had it not been for the fingerprint system.

This is but a single instance, but it adequately demonstrates the value of the fingerprint records. J. E. Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation, states that of the 600 to 700 prints received daily approximately a third belong to persons with previous criminal records.
That it is possible to file 1,300,000 fingerprints with any assurance of being able to trace and discover any single one when needed baffles the conception of the lay mind. The lines and whorls are so fine and intricate, and yet to all appearances so similar, that it hardly seems humanly possible each print can be classified and individualized so that it can be filed away with a million of others, and yet be searched out at will, but that is the point of perfection the science has reached.

PRICE CONFLICT ONLY
Although America now uses about 70 per cent of the world's rubber and its demands are constantly increasing, business having supplanted politics in the direction of world affairs, our fear of the future is not one of armed conflict but rather of a conflict against unhealthy prices for the raw materials for which we depend upon foreign monopolistic control.

Rubber has been in this category for the past five years. Eventually, with the normal increase in consumption and the finding for new uses for rubber, the world must plant more rubber trees, and America must find its economic independence with regard to rubber through its own planting. Whether this planting shall be in the Philippines, South America or the Far east matters but little.

In any event, it is purely an economic question to be determined by other than armed conflict. The very use of this term in this connection is worse than folly. The world has become too prone, both by the spoken word and the printed word, at the first indication of a problem with international complications, to thoughtlessly and unwarrantably employ this term in its discussion.
It is high time we used more moderation in speech. Especially is this true of the printed word. And yet more especially true is this of the printed word in regard to international questions, or questions likely to cause international complications. An ugly word looks even uglier in print; the thoughtless utterance of the word becomes a far graver matter when it is written down in enduring characters and broadcast to an equally thoughtless world. That way is tragedy born. So when we discuss economic questions, such as rubber for instance, it would be well to stick to economic terms.

WISE TO WORRY ABOUT EARACHE
Here I said the other day that acute earache, otitis media, gathering in the ear, middle ear abscess, is coming to be more or less a reflection on the intelligence of the sufferer or the sufferer's guardians. Only a year or two ago I would have let you go at that; but I fear I am growing discreet. For I am now convinced that knowledge of hygiene is a factor in health intelligence. I refer to health intelligence in the sense of a few readers resent my attempts to relegate such nonentities as "rheumatism," "nervous exhaustion" and "your age" to the museum of meaningless myths where they belong. These good friends often express the hope that I may one day suffer from rheumatism, nervous exhaustion and my age, for that I shall learn how to sympathize with folks so afflicted. Well, all right, maybe, but meanwhile I reserve the right to continue telling the truth or such portions of it as circumstances permit.

Aside from the pain of earache, which, like most acute pains, seems, when you have it, the most exquisite pain imaginable, it is wise to worry about the dangers of middle ear inflammation. Because I think it is wise to worry about otitis media, gathering in the ear, middle ear abscess, inflammation. I am going to give some of the morbid details, and this is against the rule.

The danger of rupture or a hole in the ear drum is the least of the dangers associated with acute earache. If the drum is promptly punctured or incised by the physician, as soon as he finds any bulging of the drum, this affords immediate relief to the pain as well as drainage and safety, and such incisions or punctures of the eardrums almost invariably heal perfectly. Even if a hole remains it doesn't necessarily impair hearing.
Mastoiditis is a more definite danger in inflammation of the middle ear. Within the mastoid process (that bony knob directly behind the ear) there are some hollow spaces lined with mucous membrane and these spaces communicate with the middle ear cavity. When inflammation or suppuration or infection invades these air spaces within the mastoid from the middle ear, the condition is called mastoiditis. Nothing so very dreadful about mere mastoiditis in itself. Probably there is mastoiditis complicating most cases of gathering in the ear when this is permitted to continue for several days unrelieved by incision of the ear drum, and especially when a very profuse discharge from the ear follows incision or spontaneous rupture (breaking) of the drum. But the grave thing about mastoiditis is that some of these air spaces or cells in the mastoid are separated from the brain cavity by only a paper thin wall of bone, and there is always the possibility that the infection, pus, germs, may break through into the brain membranes and then you have meningitis, brain abscess, or septic sinus thrombosis. (No one will believe me when I say how reluctant I am to mention these unpleasant and to most of us thank heaven, remote possibilities.)

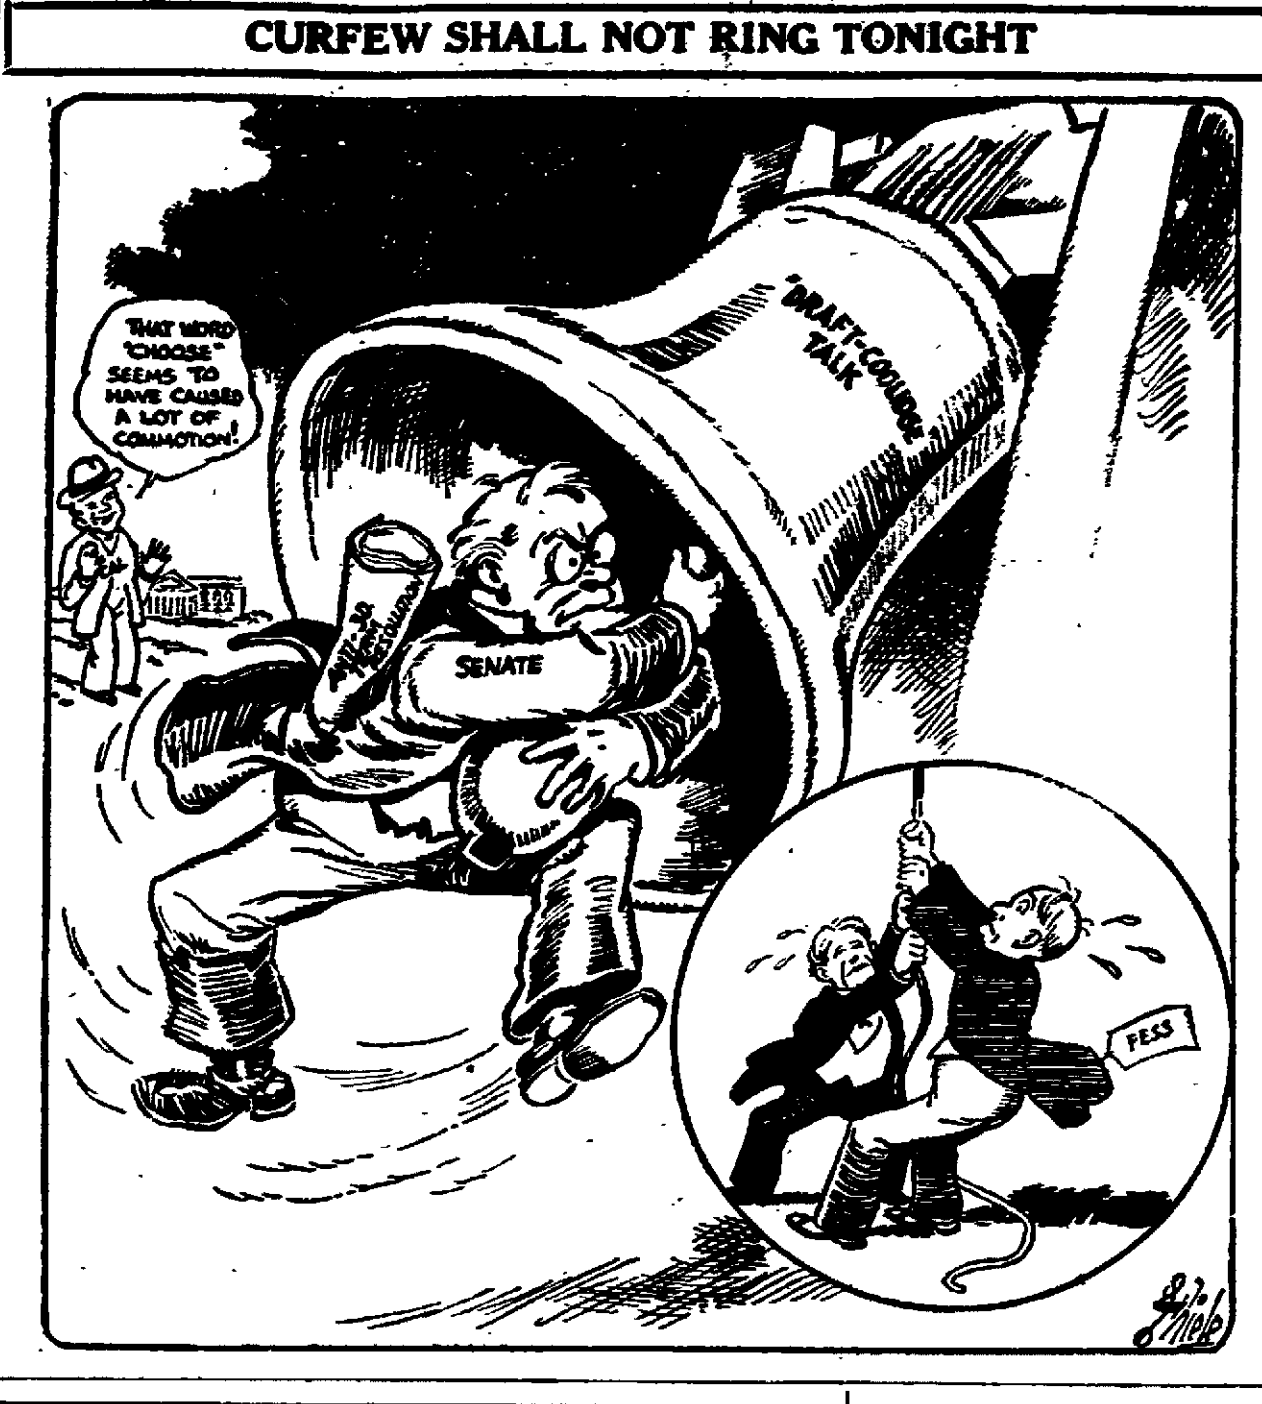

Next round we'll have something more optimistic to say about earache.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
High Heels
I am 19 by 60 inches by 120 pounds. For four years I have been wearing high French heels. Are they harmful? If so, how can I overcome their ill effects? (M. L.)
Answer—Yes, they produce faulty posture and I believe pelvic and back strain. The constant wearing of high heels shortens the heel cord. The unnatural shifting of the body weight predisposes to bunions. Such shoes are all right for special occasions of heavy duties, but a girl wants to preserve her health, grace and beauty will make it her business to limber up a reasonable while every day in heelless footwear, sneakers, moccasins, or sport shoes having low wide flat heels. Probably you will find the natural position of the foot rather painful now, because it stretches out the shortened heel cord. For that reason it may be necessary for you to come down from the high stilets by easy stages, having the heels lowered a little week by week till you can walk about comfortably in sane shoes.
Superstition
Will it be injurious to a 5 year old child's future health to have his tonsils and adenoids removed? (T. K.)
Answer—No.

Oh, Skinny
I am 5 feet and 6 inches tall and weigh only 100 pounds. I have tried the milk cure, for three months without gaining a pound. I am now taking—Is this fattening? Please tell me if there is any way for me to gain weight. I am a veritable skeleton and so ashamed of it, and the continual comments of unkind people. (N. P.)
Answer—If you mean you took only milk for two months, that was foolish. Any weight you might gain on an exclusive milk diet would be quickly lost. Such gain really represents a waterlogging of the body tissues, and is not healthful. Only milk order humbugs of the physical culture cult advocate such "dieting." The nostrum you are now taking is expensive and mysterious but that is all we can say for it. The first thing for you to do is forget the quips of unkind people. You should cultivate a good natured indifference about your bones, or better join in the jokes at your own expense. This will help to fatten you. See a doctor, stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for instructions for gaining weight.

A compromise legislative resolution was adopted that day by the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature. The bill was considered a La Follette victory.
The railroad bill was to be passed that day by the senate. It was the first of the big war measures to come up before the senators.
J. B. Langenberg and Oscar Rossmessner were at Wausau that day attending the annual shoe dealers' convention.
Knights of Pythias were to celebrate their twenty-fifth anniversary of their lodge and fifty-fourth anniversary of the order that evening. Among the speakers were A. A. Wengel, John Neller, John Diederich and Louis Bonin.
George Frazer, Howard Jamison and Alfred Galpin with Albert Herrman, Lawrence Manning, Sam Benyas and Francis Coze were members of committees for the annual social of the Forum debating society at the Y. M. C. A. the following Friday.

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

WASHINGTON'S TRAFFIC CONGESTION

Washington, D. C. — Recognition of the traffic problem was thrust upon Uncle Sam during the storm which swept Washington recently. Thousands of government employees were dismissed at two o'clock in the afternoon instead of the usual four-thirty hour for the sole reason that two o'clock was an hour of relatively light traffic. It was not excessively cold, the buildings in which the employees worked were well heated, but the snow, a foot deep on the streets, increased the hazards of traffic, and hence many dollars in workers' time was lost to the Government by the early dismissal.
Heads of Departments knew that commercial establishments in Washington released their employees about the same time as the government's workers were released and that the streets became jammed with home-going people. To relieve the congestion on such a day, therefore, the Government turned loose its employees and they were out of the way before those of the stores and offices were crowding the streets.
Traffic in all cities is becoming a problem of increasing importance, but Washington appears to have special difficulties. Not a large city compared with the great ones, still its downtown section is congested in area and attracts large crowds. Washington is prosperous, having a per capita wealth far above other American cities and nearly every one, government employee or not, has an automobile.
Not long ago, in connection with a study of traffic, it was discovered that Sixteenth Street, known as the Avenue of the Presidents, at the peak hour has more automobiles pass a given point each minute than Fifth Avenue in New York, despite the fact that it is not so wide as the famous New York thoroughfare.
Many devices for controlling traffic have been tried at the Capital, the new in vogue consisting of red and green, stop and go lights. These work well. Without them the pedestrian in Washington is a hard pressed individual. On the streets where the lights have not been installed it is not unusual for a pedestrian to wait five or even ten minutes for an opportunity to cross a street.
HOW THE PROBLEM IS MET
Not a few government officials and business men in Washington drive their automobiles to points outside the no parking limit and there take taxicabs to their offices, returning at the end of the day in the same manner. The congestion has resulted in the building up of a substantial business in creating parking space. Large buildings have been erected for the purpose of providing parking space. Into these cars may be driven and parked for the day or for an hour or two for twenty-five cents. Elevators take the cars to upper stories. Usual garage facilities also are offered.
It is believed by traffic experts that the growing congestion must result in a revolution in the type of automobile now built. Cars are much larger than they need be for their utilitarian purpose. It is argued, in France, automobiles are produced much smaller than the Ford, although much more expensive than that car. Andre Citroen, the French mechanic who, during the war became a munition maker and afterwards turned to the automobile business, has planned to build a tiny car compared with American models, and yet it seats five passengers comfortably.
The space occupied by a thousand cars of small size obviously is much less than that occupied by a thousand cars of the size of the Packard, Lincoln, Buick, Locomobile, and Pierce Arrow. The moving mass, perhaps, would not be greatly reduced, but problems of parking, making short turns, etc., would be simpler.
Automobile traffic in Washington is complicated by a factor unknown in any other American city and that is the President's automobile and those of members of the Diplomatic Corps. The President's car always has the right of way no matter what "stop" signs are up and there is diplomatic immunity for the cars of ministers and ambassadors. Most of the latter never take advantage of this, but attaches and younger employees of legations and embassies very frequently do, exceeding speed limits, passing "stop" signs and violating other traffic ordinances. Nothing can be done in these cases as the plea of diplomatic immunity has been sanctioned by the Supreme Court of the United States. When the French Ambassador, for instance, is driving down Pennsylvania Avenue at sixty miles an hour, he can not be touched because, technically, he is not in Washington at all, but on French soil, and amenable only to French law.
DIFFERENT LAW IN PARIS
The French does not violate Washington traffic laws, but he is cited as an example, the more interesting, perhaps, in that in Paris, if a pedestrian is run down by an automobile, the pedestrian, not the motorist is arrested and fined. French law says, in effect, that it is his business to keep out of the way. Strange enough, however, a recent dispatch from Paris says that during 1927 more persons were injured by bicycles than by automobiles. This may be because pedestrians have learned to beware to automobiles, but are careless where bicycles are concerned.

The most famous traffic jam in history occurred at Washington. It was on the occasion of the unveiling of the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington. The President, Mr. Harding then, the Diplomatic Corps, both houses of Congress, and the world and his wife attended the ceremony which was held in the afternoon.
Every one seems to have gone in motor cars. The entrances to the famous cemetery, once the home of Robert E. Lee, are narrow and provoked such a congestion that automobiles were jammed fender to fender for more than a mile. Many hours were required to untangle the jam. Ambassadors, Ministers, Senators, members of the Cabinet, and distinguished foreign visitors found themselves enmeshed in a sea of automobiles from which there was no escape. Night descended before the jam was broken.

Perhaps the most amusing traffic jam which ever occurred was that at Veversburg, Indiana, some years ago. Veversburg is a small town about a mile from the main trunk of the Lincoln Highway. The local Rotary Club or some group of enterprising citizens wanted to put the town on the map. They did to their cost.
Where the Lincoln Highway passed they erected a sign with an arrow pointing to the side road leading to Veversburg reading on one side "This way to New York" and on the other "This way to Chicago." This was done in the summertime when several thousand cars were passing an hour. Most of them heeded the sign and turned in.
The result was that the little town became so overrun with automobiles, the drivers of which all stopped to ask directions, that the streets would not hold them. They crowded onto the front lawns of residences, the sidewalks, even the courthouse grounds. As the day advanced the jam became worse and worse. The Sheriff of the county was summoned to assist and to quell the disorders which inevitably arose. His first step was to take a couple of men out of the Lincoln Highway and bend down the sign. It was the following morning before the Veversburg jam was cleared.

The Question Box
Information on almost any subject can be secured by sending questions to the Post-Crescent Information Bureau. Frederic J. Haskin, director Washington D. C. The bureau does not answer questions pertaining to medicine, nor does it express opinions on the merits of stocks and bonds. SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN

Cherry, dressed in the musical comedy version of an aviatrix's costume and looking so beautiful and adorable in its green leather and white satin sauciness that Faith could not blame Bill Warren for staring at her as if there was nothing else of the least importance in all the world, left for the masquerade ball at the Marlboro Country Club at twenty minutes of nine. Faith had detained her under one pretext or another for fifteen minutes at Bill had called for her, hoping that Nils would arrive before she left. But again fate ironically flung five stupid minutes between them, for Nils' taxi swerved in at the curb at exactly fifteen minutes of nine.

Nils was as incredibly tall and handsome, as golden of hair and as blue of eye as Faith had remembered him. No wonder Cherry had not been able to resist him. Faith thought, as she greeted him, both hands outstretched. The very air surrounding him vibrated with the magnetism of his personality. He exuded strength, vitality, youthful joy of living.

"You're thin," he accused her, the flame of his eyes sweeping over her. "But more beautiful than ever. Isn't she, Mr. Hathaway? You'd better shed a few pounds yourself, Rhoda. He laughed, as he turned and flung his arms boyishly about his husky young sister.

But even as he kissed Rhoda, Faith saw that his eyes swept over the large living room, searching for the face he had really come to see.

"Cherry has gone to a masquerade ball at Marlboro Country Club, Nils. Faith summoned the courage to tell him. "You asked me not to tell her you were coming, and I didn't. She left five minutes ago."

Eagerness and laughter fled instantly from Nils' handsome face. "Well,"

he drew a sharp breath. "I deserve it. Only an idiot dares try to surprise a woman. It's rather unfortunate—for me, since I'm in town only for tonight. Urgent business takes me back to the farm tomorrow. I'm—sorry I won't get to see her."

"I'm afraid 'sorry' is a mild description of what Cherry will feel, Jonson," Bob said sarcastically.

Nils flushed vividly and joy flashed into his amazingly blue eyes. "I hope you're not joking, Mr. Hathaway. I came here tonight to ask Cherry to marry me."

"Then I wish to heaven you had arrived half an hour earlier," Bob exclaimed with surprising sternness. "For Bill Warren, the chap who's taking her to the dance, came with the same honorable intention. He's probably done it by this time."

Nils advanced slowly toward the couch. His face was very white, but his eyes and voice were steady when he spoke, looking down at Faith's pale, stricken face.

"I did not write because I wanted Cherry either to forget all about me, or to fall completely in love with me, without any pressure that I might bring to bear on her. I knew she was attracted to me from the very first, but I also knew that I couldn't interest her if she felt too sure of me. I'm sorry if I've played my hand wrong and lost her, but perhaps it's better that I did get here too late tonight if there's any possibility of her becoming engaged to another man. She's got to love me as completely as I love her, or I don't want her."

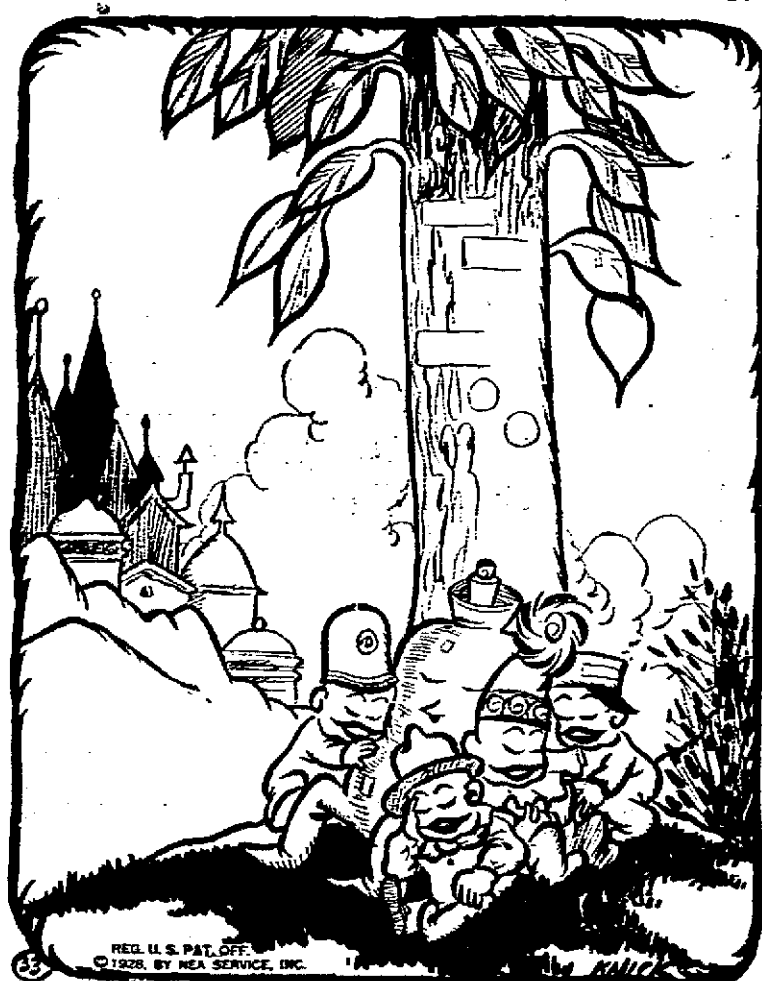

Well, Rhoda, I've been taking liberties with your inheritance, honey. Of course, if you don't approve, it's not too late for me to back out."

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THEN all the rubber men were through with doing tricks, one said, "Now you can come with us 'cause you've been nice and treated us real well. We're going to walk through rubber town, first up one street and then right down the next. And things you want to know, we'll very gladly tell."

"Oh, thank you," said the Tinymites. "We're always glad to see new sights. We will not ask too many things for fear we'll tire you out. 'Till be real fun to trail along, for all of us are feeling strong." And then the little journey started off with merry shout.

One rubber man said, "There's a tree that is a limber as can be. Why you can bend the branches till they reach down to the ground. It's made of rubber. That is why." Then Scouty said, "I guess I'll try." And when he let the branches go, they snapped back with a bound.

And then they met some rubber bands with whom the Tinies all shook hands. "My goodness me, but you are thin," said Clowny, with a smile. "Of course we are," one small band said. "I haven't even got a head, but with my little body I can stretch about a mile."

This made the Tinies laugh out loud. The rubber bands were very proud, and off they walked, and left the Tinies standing in the street. Just then a rubber man yelled, "Say, someone is coming down our way." A water bottle was the next the Tinies had to greet.

They found the water bottle kind. "In me," it said, "I'm sure you'll find a friendly playmate. I will gladly lend a hand, in helping you to sleep tonight. Now huddle up to me. That's right." And soon the little Tinymites were all in slumberland.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Baked apples, cereal, cream, country sausage, reheated potatoes, breakfast radishes, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Tomato rabbit, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, apple fritters with fresh maple syrup, milk tea.

DINNER—Chicken pie, grilled sweet potatoes, French endive and kumquat salad, fresh rhubarb pie, milk, coffee.

Since chicken pie was supposedly a favorite with our forefathers it seems quite apropos during this red letter month of February.

CHICKEN PIE—One four or five pound fowl, 3 hard cooked eggs, 1/2 pound mushrooms, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, English parsley.

Clean and cut up chicken for serving. Cook in boiling water to cover until tender. When about half done add 1 teaspoon salt. When tender remove from broth and reduce stock to three cups. Strain, cool and remove fat. Saute mushrooms in butter for ten minutes. Cover bottom of baking dish with slices of hard cooked eggs. Add a layer of prepared mushrooms and cover with pieces of chicken. The neck, backbone and wings should be used in some other way. Continue layer for layer of eggs, mushrooms and chicken until all is used. Stir flour to a smooth paste with a little cold milk and stir into reheated chicken broth. Bring to the boiling point and pour over contents of baking dish, cover with pastry and bake about fifty minutes.

To make pastry, sift 3 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt into a cup shortening. Mix to cup shortening in a cup hot water. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and yolk of 1 egg. Slowly add to flour mixture, cutting in with a knife. Knead two or three minutes on a slightly floured molding board. Roll into a sheet to fit the top of the baking dish, making the dough about 1/2 inch thick. Cut two 2-inch gashes at right angles to each other in the center of the crust and fit over chicken mixture in baking dish.

Snappy Spring Headgear For Men Features Narrow Brims

BY CURTIS WOOD

For NEA Service

New York—Men's spring hats have come out for a neater, smarter-looking America! No more nonchalant-negligee spirit about crowns and brims. Hats are compact and properly set-looking.

Crowns are raised, dignified, and the crowns' gain seems to be the brims' loss; they have had their width shaved down considerably.

Gone is the race-track sporty look of the flat-set, snap-brim that became so standardized this past season. Men have a metropolitan sophisticated appearance about 'em in the new narrower brims that have a formal roll to the sides.

LIGHT COLORS

Of course there will be snap-brims. Some men just can't give them up either because they are partial to the sporty-look of them or because they really do shelter a man's eyes when he is driving. But newer and snappier snaps are the latest. The narrower brim has its roll blocked in, and there's nothing floppy about it, such as there was about last season's. Some of the hats have a welt or turned edge.

For dressy effects there's the spring hat with the silk-bound curl brim. There's something smart and seemly about this hat with a new spring set of the wide shouldered, snug-fitted silhouette. A bit like the formality of the derby, only softer, like spring.

But if anyone thinks these formal styles are going to make American manhood more sober and more formal, he is mistaken. Just let a man put one of these smaller, set shapes on at a college angle and he looks faintly as a freshman. Men just will be young!

NEWER, SNAPPER

Another youth movement among hats is the dominance of light-colored new models. High priced ones include fur felts that are all but white. With a top-coat of light tweed they look as gay and luxurious as a smart Panama. Of course many men won't go quite so far as white for spring hats. But the number of pearl gray, soft beige tans and even greenish greys indicate that the male-sky-line this spring will not cloud the nation's happiness.

HOPE SEEN IN NEW CODE FOR MARRIAGES

Indianapolis—(AP)—Mrs. Edward Franklin White, who for the past five years has sought a constitutional amendment providing for passage of uniform marriage and divorce laws, sees new hope for the proposal.

A proviso has been added to the proposed amendment which leaves to the states the question of marriage between races and that, Mrs. White believes, may help facilitate the necessary action by congress.

The proposal was first introduced in both branches of congress during the 1923-24 session.

Mrs. White is first vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and a reporter for the Indiana supreme court.

Household Hints

WIDE CRACKS
If there are cracks in your bathroom tiles, you can get some liquid cement on the market now that is easily put in and dries instantly.

MOTH PREVENTION
Never put a single winter garment away without cleaning it you would prevent moths. They dislike cleanliness. Air everything in the sunshine before packing away.

HALF-MATRASSES
It is possible to get mattresses for double beds made in two sections, each the full length of the bed. They are easier to handle and more comfortable to sleep on.

FANCY ROLLS
Save some bread dough, when baking, for fancy rolls. Pinch off small pieces, roll into balls about the size of butter pats and bake three to a muffin hole.

MATRRESS HANDLES
Make a spring resolution to get handles on all mattresses to facilitate turning. Make handles by stitching strips of tying together for strength. Attach two to a side.

SPRING GREEN

The important kerchief collar and girde idea is cleverly adapted in this house of crepe de chên bordered with darker green.

Higher of crown and narrower of brim is the model spring headpiece for the man of style: at the left is a dressy, silk-bound curl brim, a smart complement to the double-breasted Chesterfield coat; above, the well-edged brim and, below, the snappy snap brim. All these hats are in pearl felt.

IF WOMEN PROPOSED TO MEN

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

WILL it ever come to pass that a woman will feel entirely within her right in making a proposal of marriage to a man?

We hear that some women do. Indeed I believe there have been "spontaneous" cases of reversed courtship all through history. We may go still further and quote certain authorities as saying that women do and always have done the courting.

Very well, you may lead a horse to water but you cannot make him drink. Courtship and marriage are two different things entirely. Girls may woo to their heart's content, but when it comes to saying, "Will you be mine?" had you a dollar for every girl who has taken advantage of leap year to date, it is safe to say that you would still lack enough to buy a ticket to the Folies.

Will the day of equal privilege ever come to pass? Until it does there isn't the slightest use of pretending that woman is man's equal, for upon that privilege hangs the entire structure of her independence.

We have set aside squeamish ideas of feminine propriety in other things, why not this? As long as woman was a chattel and a dependent it was perhaps natural that the male should use his prerogative of making the first advance toward union, or what he had reserved as his prerogative through centuries of custom.

But now when marriage has become a recognized partnership and a wife is less of a social and economic dependent every year of history, why not make the approach to a partnership possible to all parties concerned?

Such a change must be made by custom. It cannot be accomplished by an amendment to the Constitution. But one may make a fairly good guess that assembled guests at a wedding in 2028 will most likely be wondering whether John proposed to Mary or Mary to John.

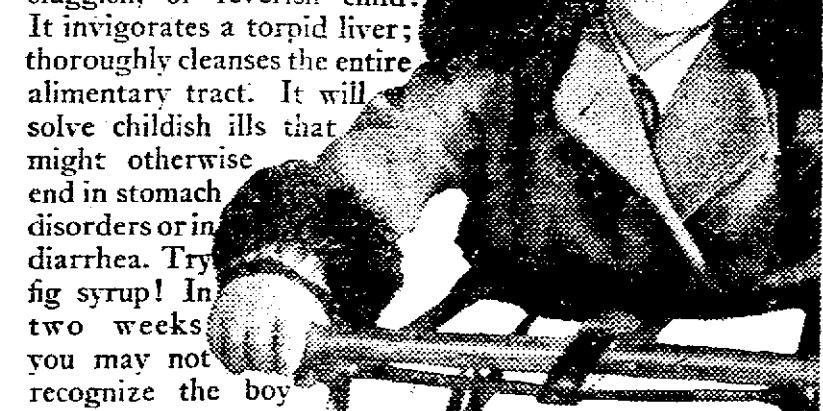

And won't it be a great deal better than some of the social experiments we are hearing about every day?

Watch Girls Gain in Two Weeks Time!

Growing girls and boys need something only Nature can provide. It isn't found in drugs, and it can't be done by diet. Enough fruit would keep the system sweet, but what youngster will eat a quart of apple-sauce every day; or six bananas; or a pound of figs? But all children just love the daily treat of California fig syrup.

A rich and fruity syrup that delights the palate, and aids digestion of anything that's eaten. And whets the appetite of children who don't eat enough.

Fig syrup for that listless, sluggish, or feverish child! It invigorates a torpid liver; thoroughly cleanses the entire alimentary tract. It will solve childish ills that might otherwise end in stomach disorders or in diarrhea. Try fig syrup! In two weeks you may not recognize the boy or the girl who is now handicapped by constipation or sour bile. Three days will tell that better assimilation and elimination are established. Twenty-four hours will clear the furriest tongue and have bowels in better condition! So much better than tonics of temporary value; or harmful cathartics! Let pure fig syrup take the place of both, but see that you do get the genuine California fig syrup; say "California" when you ask for the generous, sixty-cent bottle.

BEAUTY HOW AND WHY

ADDING LIFE TO THE HAIR WAVE

Ann Alysia

BY ANN ALYSIA

If you will apply waving or curling fluid to the hair just before setting the wave or curl and hold the wave in place by means of hairpins and not until it is entirely dry, the hair will retain its wave or curl for a much longer time than usual.

The following formula for curling fluids have been tried out with great success.

Gum Tragacanth, 150 grains.

Water, 12 ounces.

Alcohol, 2 ounces.
Oil of Rose, 5 drops.
Directions—Macerate the gum tragacanth in the water over night. When the gum is thoroughly disintegrated, strain under pressure through a piece of cheese cloth and add the alcohol, with which the oil of rose has previously been mixed. A thicker mixture may be had by increasing the amount of gum tragacanth.

Here is a formula in which quince seed furnishes the mucilage:

Quince Seed, 150 grains.

Water, 15 ounces (1 pint).

Soak the bruised quince seed in the water, heated to a point just short of boiling, with frequent shakings, until a thick mucilage is formed. Strain and add 2 ounces of cologne water in which 30 grains of salicylic acid have been dissolved.

Are you fooling yourself three times a day?

THAT caffeine beverage you take with your meals—it seems to "pick you up"—to make you feel better.

Don't be fooled! It's the warmth of the drink that brings an immediate sense of comfort. The caffeine gets in its full effect hours later, when you want to relax and rest or sleep. Then this artificial stimulant lashes your nerves—drives sleep away—keeps your brain pounding when you long for rest.

Try this test!

Make this simple change in diet: Give up caffeine—try Postum instead! Postum's friendly warmth and mellow flavor will give you the immediate "pick-up" you want. And it won't get on your nerves afterward! For Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran—not a trace of any stimulant in it. Postum can't affect sleep, can't cause nervousness or indigestion, as caffeine beverages do.

The best way to test Postum is to make it your mealtime drink for thirty days. Then note the difference in your health! See how much better you sleep—how much better you feel! Get Postum at your grocer's—either Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, or Postum Cereal, the kind you boil.

Washington
Real Human,
D. A. R. Told

THE humanizing of Washington by biographers today and the conception of Washington as a vital personality rather than a cold, detached marble ideal was emphasized by Dr. J. A. Holmes in his address on Washington at the annual George Washington luncheon meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution Wednesday at Hotel Northern.

He told the daughters of his first impression of Washington secured from a marble figure and his realization later that Washington had red hair under his wig, had freckles and was really human. The influence of Washington's life as felt today was brought out by Dr. Holmes in his talk.

Mrs. Lucy Horton and Mrs. Ralph J. Watts sang "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn and "Last Night" by Tchaikovsky, accompanied by Miss Irene Bidwell. Decorations were in red, white, and blue, and American flags were used on the tables. Covers were laid for 34 at the luncheon.

Mrs. W. M. Shapiro, 592 S. Story-st will be hostess to the chapter at its regular meeting Friday afternoon. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. E. L. Pierce, Mrs. A. N. Stenborg and Miss Garnet Schnitzler. Mrs. G. A. Filkins will have the program the subject of which will be Colonial Women of Affairs.

Famous Old Recipe
for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly Pinex, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaraccol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FILLING STATION AT NEW LONDON HELD UP UNTIL CITIZENS ACT

Councilmen Fail to Take Action Until Residents Look Over Plans

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Four representatives of the Standard Oil company were present at the regular meeting of the council meeting at the city hall on Tuesday evening to present their plans for the proposed filling station on the corner of Beacon-ave and S. Pearl-st. on the site now occupied by the unused church owned by the Trinity English Lutheran church, on which the oil company has secured an option. The plans were discussed, however, having been on file, as is required. Plans were left with Mayor Wendlandt, which will enable property owners in the vicinity of the site to examine and ascertain for themselves whether or not the building proposed will be in any way offensive to dwellings in the residence district. A special meeting will be called Tuesday evening of next week at which the representatives will probably again be present.
An offer of $50 for the small frame house of four rooms was made by Mr. Schultz, occupant of the house, who is willing to sell the house and the structure to a location on the bank of the Wolf river near the Hutton Lumber company stables. This house is to be moved to make way for the parking space. The offer was not accepted, the council voting after considerable discussion to ask for bids. The term on the same property is to be moved and used for city uses. Street Commissioner Albert Gesse stated that the barn could be moved and fitted for his purposes at a cost of about $500.

FAMILY BARELY ESCAPES DEATH BY SUFFOCATION

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The family of George Demming, Wyman-st, narrowly escaped suffocation Tuesday night from a small oil heater, used to supplement the heat in the bathroom on the second floor. The stove, forgotten by members of the family had burned out through the night and the flame had followed the usual custom of oil stoves by "crawling up." At four o'clock Mrs. Demming was awakened by a feeling of strangulation to find the entire second floor blackened by a thick layer of soot and the air filled with smoke. Besides the damage done to beddings, clothing in closets and furnishings, several members of the family were ill Wednesday. It is thought that the open windows saved them from suffocation.

WANTED

50 Thousand Skinny Men

The Kind That Will Take Pride In A Manly Figure

How much better a man feels when his weight is normal.

He nearly always has plenty of energy; seldom gets tired and always looks like a real honest to goodness man.

There was an exceedingly thin man in Atlantic City—he was all in, rundown and needed a lot of flesh. He took McCoy's Tablets and within two months wrote that he had gained 28 pounds and felt like a new man.

Eats Beans Cucumbers, Sleeps Fine

"I eat pork and beans, cucumbers—anything, since taking Adlerika. Stomach trouble is all gone and I sleep fine."—Geo. C. Brooks.

The staple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that often clogged the system for months.

Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, writes: Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and bacilli.

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. F. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated. It will astonish you the great amounts of poisonous matter Adlerika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists.

thirst", might well have been sung of old San Francisco's Chinatown and Barbary Coast, and it is these regions that Warner Bros. recreate for us in the thrilling and uncannily realistic "Old San Francisco," starring Dolores Costello and featuring Warner Oland. Alan Crosland, who won such high acclaim for his direction of "Don Juan" and "When a Man Loves" has added materially to his reputation in "Old San Francisco."

The feature picture at Fischers Appleton Theatre today and Friday. The story is that of a half-caste boss of the underworld, who, coveting the lands and the fair grand-daughter of a Spanish grandee, hounds the old man to his death. The girl on the ancient sword of her family, pledges vengeance and having discovered the fact that the boss is a yellow man, saves the news about the underworld, aged and abetted by a young man, who with her aid, is kidnapped and sequestered in a Chinese den. The boss tries to make the girl retract her statement, threatening to torture her love. A crowd of Chinamen who hate their "white boss" force their way into the scene and capture him while the girl is spirited away to a secret chamber.

The boss, coming from his captors, captures the girl, and drags her to a lower cell where she is dressed in gori-

BECK LAUDS NORRIS IN OPENING ADDRESS OF STATE CAMPAIGN

Declares Country Needs Someone to Call Things by Their Right Names

La Crosse.—(P)—Joseph D. Beck, Viroqua, congressman from the seventh Wisconsin district and candidate for governor, in an address here Wednesday night opened the state campaign of the La Follette Progressive candidates for election as delegates to the Republican National convention.

Mr. Beck characterized Senator George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska, whom the Progressives have endorsed for president, as a man "who like La Follette, has devoted more than a generation battling for a square deal for common folks."

He made no direct reference in the address to his own candidacy for governor, but devoted most of his attention to an attack upon the last two national administrations.

There is needed today, Mr. Beck said, "an Andrew Jackson or a 'Bob' La Follette to call things by their right names, to scourge corruption and privilege, and dislodge the enemies of free government."

TAKE FARMERS' PROFITS

The Progressive delegates are pledged to the support of Senator Norris, Mr. Beck said and they will not stand for the "election of anybody or everybody for president."

There is in the field just such a ticket, he said. "That ticket is backed by the tariff barons that are making twenty-one billions of dollars a year in profits off the farmers and wage earners of the country."

"It is backed by the Aluminum Trust controlled by Andrew Mellon. It is backed by the same interests that squeezed billions of dollars a year in profits from the people during the war and attempted, through bribery, to steal our vast oil reserves. It is supported by the power trust that is squeezing three times as much out of the American people for heat, light and power as is charged in Ontario by the publicly-owned Hydro-Electric company."

"It is backed by Irvine L. Lenroot, who stepped from his seat in the United States Senate to the office of the nine-billion dollar power lobby at Washington and led the fight to block the power investigation under the Walsh resolution."

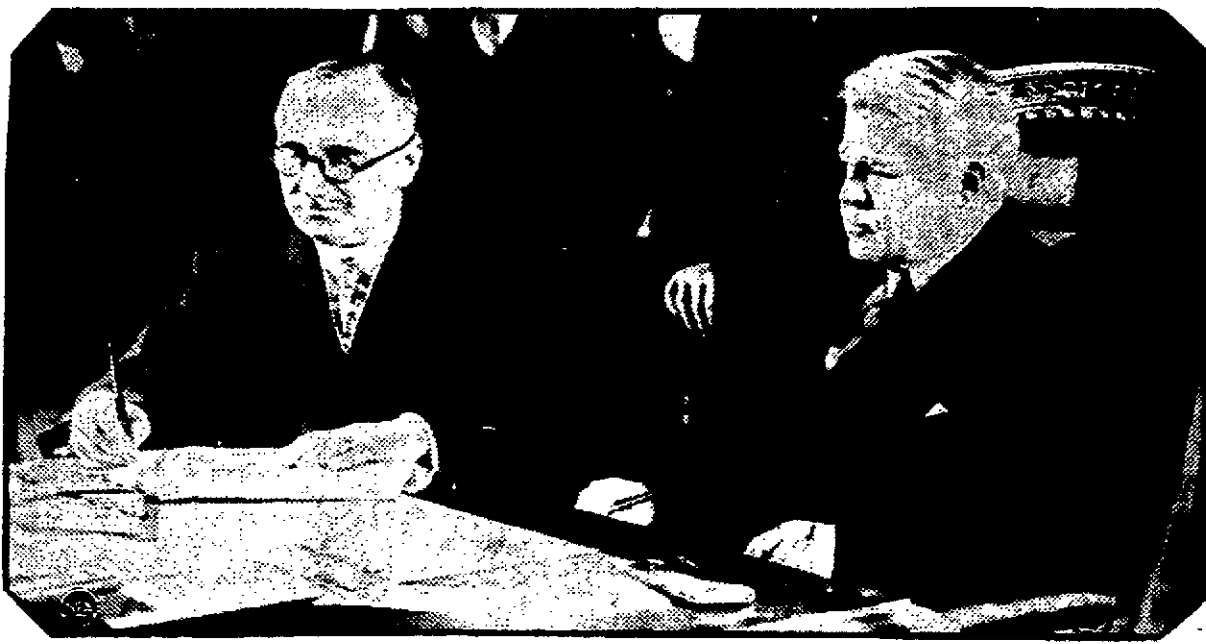

In farming districts, Mr. Beck charged, these delegate candidates are for Lowden, "the Pullman car candidate for president." In districts where business concerns "profited by Hoover's price fixing during the war, they are for Hoover."

DECIDE FOR SELVES

Candidates "masquerading as 'sand Progressives' and backed by a stalwart press have sometimes slipped into important state and national offices by fraud and deception," Mr. Beck said.

"Trusted lieutenants of the man who first planted the standard of our movement have sometimes gone over to the enemy, but when they could get the facts, the people of Wisconsin have never wavered in their devotion. The voters of Wisconsin will de-

SIGNING FRANCO-ARBITRATION TREATY

Ambassador Paul Claudel is pictured here at the State Department in Washington affixing his official signature to the new Franco-American arbitration treaty. Watching from the right is Under Secretary of State Robert E. Olds, who signed for us in the absence of Secretary Kellogg. The pact, replacing the expiring Root covenant of 1908, pledges the two countries to submit their differences to arbitration before resorting to war and formally recognizes our Monroe Doctrine.

WISCONSIN SHALL CONTINUE

to lead the nation in constructive, progressive, American statesmanship, or whether Wisconsin shall surrender this proud position to become a mere cog in the political machine which produced Daugherty, Fall, Sinclair, Doherty, Forbes, Mellon and Coolidge. "The Progressives are the political descendants of Jefferson and Lincoln, just as the Reactionaries are the political children of the Tories," Mr. Beck declared. "And the same battle for human progress, freedom and liberty is being fought today between the Progressives and Reactionaries that took place between 1776 and 1850."

RAPS ADMINISTRATION. "Wealth is never dismayed," he said. "It never sleeps. It has continued to fight for control of the government from the days of Hamilton and Jefferson to this, and it never was more completely in the saddle than during the second administration of Wilson and throughout the administrations of Harding and Coolidge."

"Government at Madison and Washington has become increasingly in our time a factor of enormous importance in the economic life of the nation. With its practically unlimited power of taxation, its power to make public contracts, lease public property, regulate railroad and public utility rates and services and levy tariff duties, government has become the richest stake in the world for the various interests that seek to control it."

"The railroad interests, the banks, the water power trust, the oil industry, and the imperialists can usurp the government and thereby enrich themselves and make government a curse to the rest of us and our flag a symbol of hate to weaker peoples in other lands."

"That is the issue," Mr. Beck declared, "and what I say here tonight and what I have endeavored to do in my public capacity at Madison and at Washington has for its object the maintenance of governmental policies for the benefit of all the people and

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE SPRING OPENING DATE

Members of the Retail Trades committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce will meet next Tuesday to discuss the annual spring opening. Tentative dates are March 9 and 16.

THAT SATURDAY BATH
Leaver.—The weekly ablution isn't nearly as popular in December as it is in July. Figures recently compiled by Frank Patton, commissioner of supplies, show that three baths grow in July where only one buds forth in December. The July total was 24, 218, whereas December shows only 8,279.

ry inspection, it has become impossible to meet the demand with the funds provided for the administering of this service. The last legislature empowered the commissioner of agriculture to charge a reasonable fee, and it is to discuss the fee proposed that the hearing is being held.

"The average cost of nursery inspection in Wisconsin," the department says, "is approximately $10.00 per nursery and at the present time the appropriation for this project is barely half enough to cover its cost. A minimum fee is therefore being recommended that will meet this deficit and which we believe will be in the neighborhood of $2.50 for one acre or less and 5 cents for each additional acre up to certain limits, to be determined, for all nursery stock actually under cultivation."

EFFEL TOWER YIELDS BIG PROFIT TO OWNERS

Paris.—(P)—The Eiffel Tower, earth's tallest structure, is a good money-making proposition.

That is the reply of a member of the private company which operates the tower to critics who frequently demand its removal as a "worthless monstrosity." The company pays large dividends, he says.

Money pours into the coffers of this company from a variety of sources. Every year 600,000 persons are eager to visit the tower to pay the admission charge. A restaurant, a cabaret and a souvenir shop on the first landing; a bar, a souvenir stand and a photographer on the second landing; a snack-knack sellers on the third landing, all swell the income. Electric light advertising also pays well.

The tower also serves as a powerful wireless station. The tower is used, likewise, for scientific observations.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

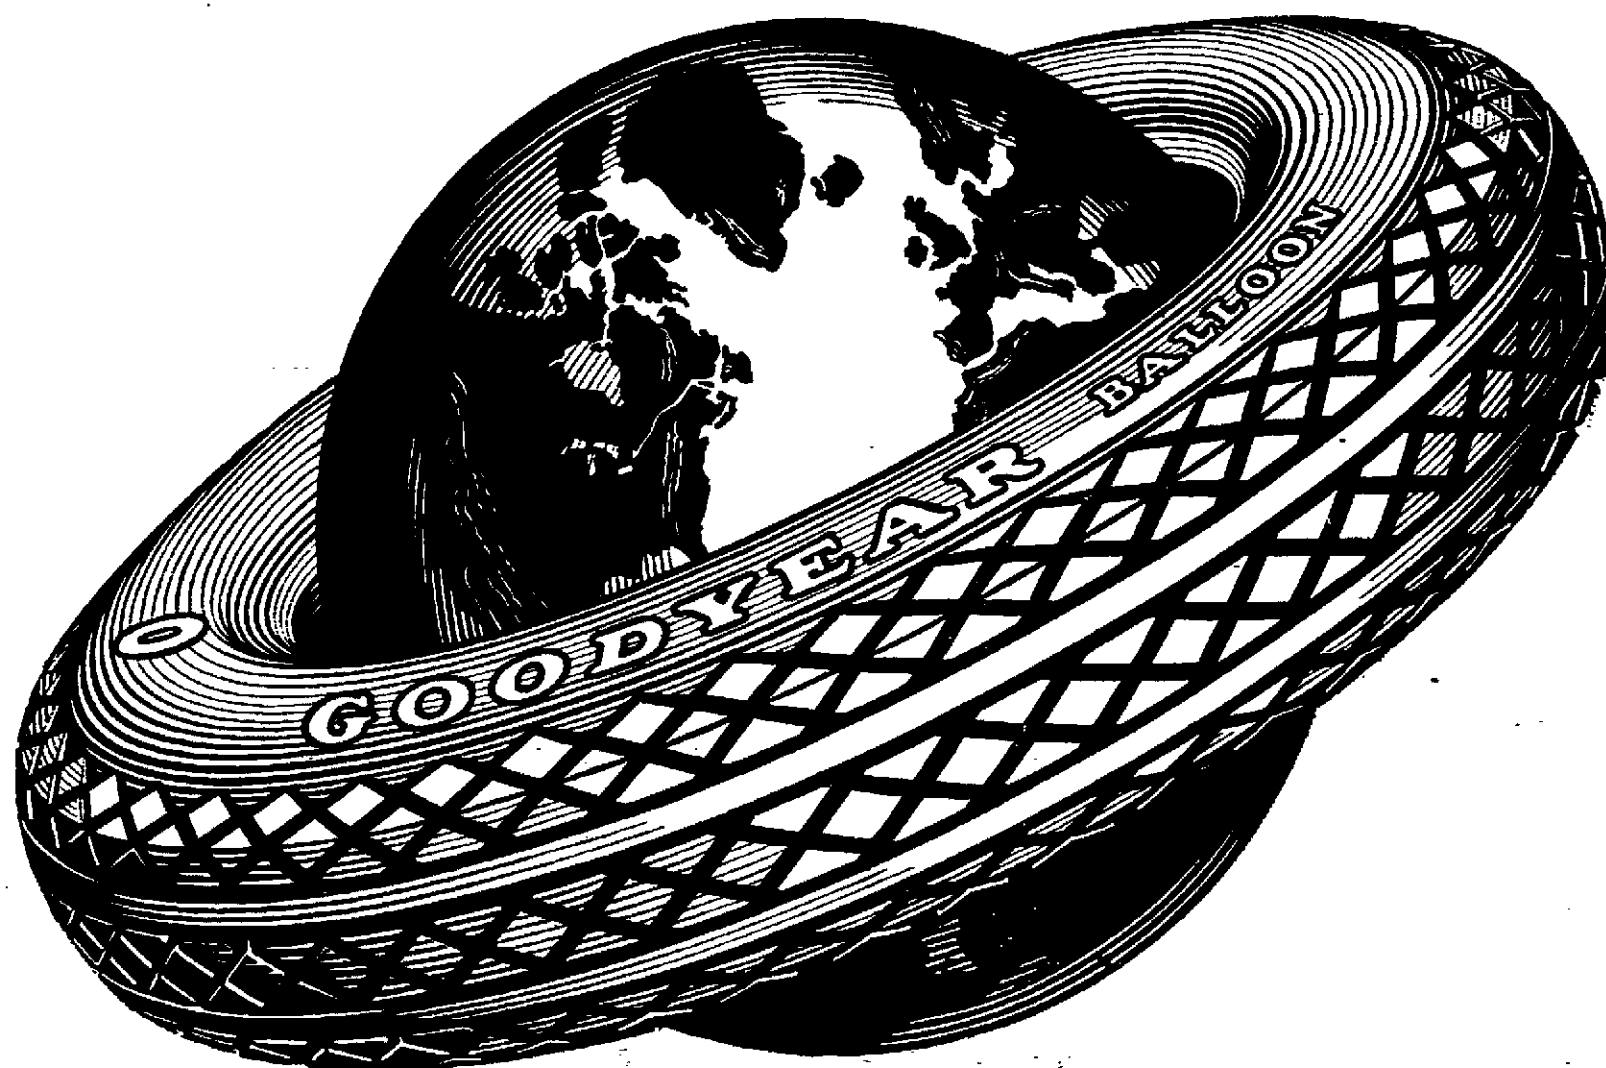

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

LOCKHART CATAPULTS INTO OCEAN AT 225 MILES AN HOUR

Responds To Demands Of Crowd And Drives Racer In Spite Of Bad Weather

Sportsmanship Outweighs Better Judgment and Racing Star Is Injured

Daytona Beach, Fla., (AP)—Because he let his standards of sportsmanship outweigh his better judgment, Frank Lockhart, youthful racing driver, must temporarily discontinue his dream of driving a powerful automobile at a greater speed than has ever been attained.

His tiny Stutz Blackhawk Special was smashed beyond hope of immediate repair when it catapulted from the beach into the ocean here Wednesday afternoon at the rate of 225 miles per hour, and Lockhart is recovering from severe shock and minor injuries at a hospital.

It was the roar of the crowd for action that gave fortune a chance to frown and smile in turn on the young Indianapolis pilot. Despite a wet beach and poor visibility brought on by low hanging clouds, the responded to the loud urging of the throng and went out to threaten the record of 206.9 miles an hour when Captain Malcolm Campbell, of London, had established Sunday.

SPILLS RECORD CHANCE
Lockhart's chances for a new mark went glimmering when his car swerved beyond control and turned a complete somersault to right itself in the sea. Thousands who lined the beach galvanized by fear at the machine's wild careening, Thursday described the pilot's escape from death as remarkable.

Chills and blow torches were necessary to extricate Lockhart from the pilot's seat where he had been pinned in the crumpled machine. Breakers swept high over his head while he was in this defenseless position, semi-conscious, adding drowning to his other dangers until the $70,000 speed creation could be sent above the water onto the dry sands above.

For several hours after the accident, Lockhart was unable to give an account of what happened to his machine, but William F. Sturm, Lockhart's representative, after talking to the pilot late Wednesday night, said he believed the disastrous behavior of the car was caused by too sudden application of the brakes.

"I was traveling down the beach at a high rate when I glanced at my tachometer to see how many revolutions the motor was making. It was doing 6,500 (between 220 and 230 miles per hour) just before the accident happened. I drove through a bright place where the sun was shining — then ran into rain and could not see — and the next thing I knew I was in the ocean."

ENTRIES CLOSE FRIDAY FOR ELK PIN TOURNEY

Pair Of Great Mound Vets Missing From Major Loops

BY BILLY EVANS

The season of 1927 marked the end of the major league trail for two great pitchers. Their big league careers ended, but their memory lingered on.

Back in 1907, Walter Johnson made his debut as a member of the Washington team of the American League. He was a success from the very start. Last year was his twentieth in the majors. This year he is to manage and pitch for the Newark team of the International League.

The other great pitcher I have in mind hasn't had the spotlight played on him continuously as did Johnson, but for 15 years he had been almost as useful to the Detroit Tigers as was Johnson to Washington. His name—George Dauss.

Manager George Moriarty of the Detroit Tigers will tell you that had Dauss been available for regular work last season, his club would have won at least 15 more games. Dauss in top form would have probably saved that many as pinch pitcher.

As a matter of fact the season of 1926 really marked the end of George Dauss as a big league pitching star. Illness early put him out of the running, but it was hoped that he would be able to go the route before the close of the season. Unfortunately he failed to regain his health and was unable to pitch a single game for the Tigers.

I understand that he continues in poor health and that no hope is held out for a recovery that will enable him to resume his baseball career. Since he has served more than 40 years in the majors, he will be given his unconditional release as called for by the rules of baseball.

In the passing of George Dauss from baseball, baseball loses a pitcher who, while not the equal of Johnson in natural ability, was one of the game's greatest. There was never a finer character, a man of better ideals connected with baseball than George Dauss.

George Dauss began his professional career back in 1903. This season would have been his twentieth. He joined Detroit in 1912 and had spent 15 years, his entire major league career, with that club. His greatest year was in 1915, when he won 23 games while losing 13. In 1918, just five

EDDIE KOTAL ADDED TO KIMBERLY QUINT

Former Lawrence All-Midwest Guard Plays With K-C Five

Kimberly—The "Red Devils," the Kimberly-Clark basketball squad, has added a new member to their lineup "Eddie" Kotal, old Lawrence college star, and well known valley professional basketball and football player, has accepted a position at the Kimberly mill and has joined the squad. Kotal is a welcome addition to the team which lost several of its best members, "Ossie" Cooke, "Milt" Schuele, and Pope, of its strong crew of last year.

The K. C's are now carrying out a heavy practice schedule in preparation for the annual Kimberly-Clark mills tournament which will be held at Niagara, Wis., Friday and Saturday, March 2, and 3. Teams from the mills at Niagara Falls, N. Y., Neenah, Kimberly, and Niagara, Wis., will compete. Kotal, who will not be able to play in the tournament, is coaching the locals for the event. All team men to take part in the tournament had to be employed by the company since Feb. 1.

Thursday night the K. C. aggregation will travel to Lena to play the Legion crew, and on Tuesday night the Lena quint will play the Red Devils a return visit.

FORM CONFERENCE FOR SMALL SCHOOLS

Four Outagamie - co High Schools in New "Little Nine" Loop

Formation of new high school athletic conference for smaller schools of Outagamie, Manitowoc, Brown and Calumet-cos, was completed this week and the name of "Little Nine" conference was adopted by the schools. Member schools are Kimberly, Little Chute, Seymour, and Hortonville of Outagamie; Calumet-cos, Brown, and Pulaski of Calumet-cos and Manitowoc.

Although the league will not swing into action until next year, a tournament of the teams enrolled will be held within several weeks at Pulaski. A track meet, according to present plans, may be held by the schools during May.

PLAY BEAR CREEK

Friday evening the Kimberly high school squad will battle the Bear Creek high school crew at the Kimberly club house. The team has been getting in quite a bit of extra practicing lately and should make a good showing against the Bear Creek quint which they defeated during the early part of the season. The local team has won five out of the eight games played, games lost were by small margins, five points being the greatest win allowed the opponents. Members of the squad are V. Courchane, Capt., H. Williams, L. Vander Velden, U. Vander Velden, E. Melcher, M. Schene, L. Schertz and U. Kroll.

ON ELKS ALLEYS

Chicago—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight boxing champion, will risk his prestige and physiognomy but not his title in a ten-round bout with Jackie Fields of California at the Coliseum Thursday night. Both men will be over the lightweight poundage.

Thursday night's fight is the second between the men and probably Mandell's last before he exchanges punches with Jimmy McLarnin in a titular match at the White Sox ball park next June. In their last bout, Fields won a 12-round newspaper decision over the champion, Mandell Thursday, however, ranked a 7 to 5 favorite.

PROF. ALEX!

There's doubt among some of the skeptics if Grover Alexander explained to Sam Bradon, owner of the Cards, all the things he expected to do by getting down to Florida early for spring training.

"Old Alex" has started the old supper back in shape for the coming season, and while doing so also is teaching a team of pretty girls the tricks of the pitching game. For instance, just how he threw one by Tony Lazzeri in the 1926 world series.

He is shown here advising one of the girls on the team how to handle herself properly on the mound. If she does as Alex tells her, she'll be a star in her league!

Cincinnati—Happy Atherton, Indianapolis, and Louis Carpenter, Toledo, drew 10.

Culver City, Cal.—Vince Dundee, Baltimore, won from Bobby LaSalle, Culver City (19).

PURDUE FAVORITE IN 1ST-PLACE GAME

Boilermakers, Badgers Clash to Break Tie for Big Ten Lead

Chicago—(AP)—Undisputed possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball race will be decided Thursday night when Purdue meets Wisconsin at Madison.

Both teams have won six out of seven games and are tied for first place. Each will have four more games to play after Thursday night's contest and the two will meet in a return contest at Lafayette Saturday night.

Because of their scoring power, the Purdue Boilermakers are favored to win Thursday night. The Badgers, however, make up in defense what they lack in offense and thus far have turned in the best defense record in the conference this season, holding their opponents to an average of 21.57 points per game. Their average scoring power per game is one of the lowest in the conference, 30.47 points. Purdue has held its opponents to 27.17 points per contest while running up an average game total of 38.57 points.

Wisconsin was defeated once by Illinois. Indiana gave Purdue its only loss.

Minnesota provided the upset of the week's play at Minneapolis Wednesday night by turning back Chicago, 39 to 18. It was the Gopher's second win of the season. Indiana romped over Ohio State at Columbus, winning 52 to 17, in the only other game played.

JOEY SANGOR TO MEET FORMER BANTAM CHAMP

Milwaukee—(AP)—Eddie (Cannonball) Martin of Brooklyn deposited bantamweight champion will meet Joey Sangor, of Milwaukee, in New York March 16, according to word received Wednesday. John L. Dorgan, Sangor's eastern manager, advised the Milwaukee fighter that Martin would displace Andre Routis.

Paris—Moise Bouquillon, French light heavyweight champion, knocked out Blackie Miller, Australian champion (3).

LITTLE CHUTE TEAM WANTS LOOP BERTH

Village "All Het Up" Over Baseball Desires Valley Franchise

If strenuous efforts count for anything Little Chute may this year be represented in the Fox River Valley Baseball league. For the Chuters are exerting their utmost to be chosen to fill one of the berths in the 1928 loop and much enthusiasm was generated at a meeting at the village last Monday. At the meeting the enthusiasts decided that if the team does not play in the league this year it will play in independent ball.

HAVE REAL SUPPORT
An indication of the backing the team will receive in the loop was given at the meeting when one Chute enthusiast offered $500 toward the nine, and another offered $200, beside dozens of smaller contributions. The park will be repaired as soon as the snow is off the ground and with the excellent support it is thought that the playing field will be made one of the finest in a small village in Wisconsin and the middle west. Another meeting will be held Monday at the village.

The league now consists of Appleton, Green Bay, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha, with Oshkosh having withdrawn. Beside Little Chute, Two Rivers, Manitowoc and several other places are said to be seeking franchises. It is thought that action on some of the applications will be made at the next meeting of the loop moguls early in March.

Little Chute always has been a great baseball town as far back as anyone can remember and the present generation is just as enthusiastic. Of last year's Kimberly team, five men, Boots and Ted Lamers, former big leaguers, George Vanderloop, infielder and pitcher, Harvey Hartjes, catcher, and Charlie Schall, first baseman, are Little Chute boys and beside that the village had a strong team in the Intercounty league. "Casey" Jensen, the village president was a leading umpire in the Valley loop last year and is an old time ball player. He is enthusiastic about having a franchise in the loop and would play a great part in handling the team.

CHILTON MAPLE FIVE CHALLENGES APPLETON

The Stack Jewellers of Chilton, one of the strongest bowling teams in Wisconsin, issue a challenge to the best pin strucks of Appleton for a home match series. The team is bowling the crack Elmer Washers of Oshkosh next week. Appleton managers are requested to write or phone L. W. Utz at Hotel Chilton.

Looks Like Fuchs

New York sports writers say that Vic Hanson, former Syracuse three sports star who will try out with the Yankees this spring, is a dead ringer for Judge Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves.

San Francisco—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, defeated Jack Willis, Texas (10).

INDIANA SLAMS OHIO FOR 52-17 VICTORY

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—Indiana university invaded Ohio State's stronghold Wednesday night and won a decisive victory, 52 to 17, in a Western Conference basketball game.

The Indiana quintet seemed able to score at will from anywhere on the floor, with the Buckeyes missing many easy shots.

The defense feature of the game was Van Heyde's pretty work in holding down the scoring of McCracken, Indiana's high scoring center.

Contentment by the pipe-load

EVERY load of P.A. in your pipe is a load of sunshine in your smoke-system. Why do you suppose more Prince Albert is smoked than any other brand? I'll tell you. When you open a tidy red tin and set free that P.A. aroma, you're on your way.

When you taste that first, wonderful pull on your pipe, you've arrived. Cool as the keel of a river-boat. Refreshing as a breeze on the top deck. Mellow and mild and long-burning, with a body that puts satisfaction right over the plate every time.

Take the nearest path to pipe-joy. Go get yourself a tidy red tin of good old P.A. That's all there is to this business of finding the right combination to contentment. You'll say so after that first fragrant pipe-load of this delightful tobacco.

This tin contains TWO full ounces of top-notch smoke-joy.

MANITOWOC TAKES SECOND PLACE IN VALLEY CAGE LOOP

Shipbuilders Win Midweek Game from East Green Bay by Score of 17-15

STANDINGS

Oshkosh	5	1	333

East Green Bay	5	3	275
APPLETON	4	3	371
West Green Bay	2	5	298

Fond du Lac	2	5	286
Sheboygan	1	6	344

Manitowoc—With second place in the conference and the right to contest with Oshkosh high for top honors at stake, Manitowoc Highs and East Green Bay staged a thriller at the Lincoln high gym here last night with the Red and White emerging on top, 17 to 15, when, with a minute and a half to go and the score knotted at 15 all Gorychka arched a shot from beyond the free throw line to put the locals ahead. It was his only basket of the entire game but it certainly came at an opportune time. His free toss a moment before had tied the game.

The packed gym went wild as Manitowoc took time out with a 2-point lead to find out how much was yet to play and when play was resumed Gorychka contributed more to the Red and White cause by outjumping the giant Roeder. Green Bay captain, to give the ball to his comrades. Capt. Wilda ordered a spelling game and the fans were treated to a wonderful exhibition of this new kind of delayed offense. East High tore in to force the game, but the Red and White would start down the floor. Twice the locals were forced into tie balls in this hectic 90 seconds and once Green Bay was given the ball out of bounds, but their shots for the netting was wild and the game ended with Manitowoc protecting its two point margin.

GAME A FAST ONE

It was a game that will go down into the annals of the Little Eight conference, as one of the fastest and most bitterly contested in years. The two teams fought tooth and nail through the entire struggle. They were deadlocked 3 to 3 at the quarter and 8 to 8 at the half, while at the three quarters mark East High clung to a scant 13 to 12 lead. Down the home stretch it looked like curtains for the Johnsons, for a basket by Meyer gave the visitors a 15 to 12 lead. But from then on the Red and White staged a bitter up hill fight, broke through the Green Bay defense sufficiently to tie the score and then crashed through with the winning basket when Gorychka splashed one through the draperies.

The win last night elevated Manitowoc to second place over East Green Bay, and practically eliminated East High from the race. The game was without doubt the best exhibition of basketball seen on the local floor this season, with the possible exception of the Appleton overtime game. A play that left Kupiec free under the basket worked three times in succession. In the opening minutes of the game and each time the long boy sank pot shots. This play, although solved later by East was the deciding factor and the six points scored on it gave the Red and White the margin of victory.

APPLETON BANK PINMEN WIN IN ROLLOFF MATCH

Though Kaukauna bankers took two games of a match with Appleton bankers Tuesday evening at the Hillgenberg alleys, Kaukauna, the match ends in a tie with each team having a 2561 total. In the rolloff of the tie, in which each man bowled a single frame, Appleton took the match by a 48-38 score, four of the local bankers counting strikes or spares and the other having nine pins for an almost perfect frame.

Ten-pin men for Appleton were J. Wissman, J. Doerflinger, C. Van Able and T. Sauer, and L. Schreiter had the 9-count. For Kaukauna, G. Mulholland got 10 pins, W. Brenzel and H. Weitenbach had 8 each and H. Olm and F. Olm had 6 each.

Kaukauna took the first game by 46 and the second by 5 for a 51-pin lead but Appleton rallied in the final game to take it by just 51 sticks. H. Olm of the winners had high game of the match, a 228, but Van Able of Appleton had high series of 606. Olm had high series for Kaukauna, a 585, and Van Able had high game for Appleton, a 235. Other 200 scores were rolled by F. Olm of the Kaws with a 207, and Van Able and T. Sauer of Appleton with 205 and 213, respectively.

RAFOTH BACK IN FIFTH IN VALLEY SCORE RACE

Bennie Rafoth, Appleton high school's center and leading scorer dropped to fifth place among the high scorers of the Fox River Valley conference last Friday evening when the Orange had trouble squeezing out a one-point victory over Sheboygan's cellar occupants. Rafoth scored only two ringers during the first half of the game and occupied the bench most of the remainder of the game.

Herbert still leads the loop followed by Tadych and Gorychka and Pugh has squeaked in above the Orange player by two points. Gorychka leads Rafoth by three points and Tadych is nine points ahead of the local center. Herbert of course is far in the van.

MILWAUKEE QUINTETS ROLL HIGH IN STATE

Madison—(AP)—Five-men teams on the drives at the state pin tournament Wednesday night turned in the best totals in more than two weeks. Two changes were made in the team standings by the legiers Wednesday night, the famed five of the Milwaukee Journal rolling into fifth place with 2975, 2974 and finished with a great 1044 for while the Bay View Recreation five the high count of the night. Charles also of Milwaukee gathered enough to law, recognized as world's match bowling champion, hit 617 on the Journal with 2966.

The Journals got away with a low count for the pin crushers that the aggregation represents with a total of 557. In the second game they added had several bad misses. Their game counts were 925, 959, and 960.

One change appeared in the singles bowling for the day when P. Fox of Milwaukee hit 634 for eighth place in the standings. Fox had game counts of 210, 235 and 233. Blanchard of Be-but fell down in their last game and of the Fox total with 671, having games of 192, 255 and 214.

In the doubles, but one good count for the day was registered, the Milwaukee duo of J. Carpenter and W. Atkinson hitting the wood for 1240. Atkinson was high for the pair, getting counts of 229, 211 and 212 for 652, while his partner hit 597.

Capping the Great Pyramid of Value to the Greatest Reception in Hudson History

Hudson's long, constantly improved leadership of chassis values, riding qualities, performance supremacy, and operation smoothness, is this year rounded out with the most beautiful modern and varied line of body designs we have ever presented—and to the greatest public applause in all Hudson's long score of triumphs.

From pre-showings in hundreds of cities including Detroit, from the brilliant New York Automobile Show, from the trade, the press and the man on the street come the most significant and powerful endorsements that Hudson has ever won.

The Blazing Horizon

THE STORY THUS FAR
The story is told in the Indian
... and along the Kansas
... in the '30's when a fight
... was being waged for the opening
... of Oklahoma to settlement. Chief characters are:
TONY HARRISON, orphaned
at 13 when his father was shot in
a poker game;
PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, teacher, Indian interpreter, showman;
JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live;
Titus Moore, owner of the Bar
K brand;
RITA, his daughter, with whom
Tony later falls in love.
Moore is one of the chief enemies on the movement to open Oklahoma. DAVID PAYNE, leader of the "Boomers," dies and Tony in his loyalty to Moore is troubled because of his sympathy for Payne's cause. He tries to forget his hopeless love for Rita but is unable to keep from declaring his love, and when she admits she is engaged to another he disappears.
Pawnee Bill organizes his own show. Tony goes with it. It fails and Pawnee Bill is persuaded by the city of Wichita to go there and lead the Boomers into Oklahoma. The fight finally is won.
On April 22, 1889, the gun is fired
that sends 50,000 homeseekers scrambling over the border in a wild rush. Tony rides on to Guthrie which in one day is springing from nothing to a city of 9000.
There he accidentally gets into the hardware business.
Mrs. Moore meanwhile has died in the east and Titus Moore and Rita go back to the Bar K.
A scar-faced man drops into Guthrie and at sight of him Tony is troubled by the notion that he has seen him before.

CHAPTER XLVI
When he dropped into his favorite haunt that evening for a quiet game of poker, Tony Harrison found the scar-faced Forbes standing beside the bar. Once more he was assailed with the feeling that somewhere he had encountered that face before, but to save the life of him he could not resurrect the image of a man with sleek black hair and a short mustache and goatee. Most men, if they affected mustaches, favored the long,
flowing ones with drooping or upturning ends. "And," he told himself, "it can't be the scar. I'd remember that anywhere."
He lingered nearby, that he might study the other's face unobserved; and presently Forbes, as if he felt unseen eyes upon him, turned around.
He smiled. "Have a drink," he asked.
For a moment Harrison experienced the uncomfortable feeling of having been caught in an act of rudeness. "I don't drink," he answered as pleasantly
as he could. "Some time ago I decided to get along without it."
"Most of us would be better off if we felt the same way about it," the man agreed pleasantly. "How about something soft—ginger ale?"
Tony hesitated. The man was courteous enough, and yet... "Generally," he said, "I don't permit a stranger to stand treat for me, but I'll break the rule if you let me buy the next one."
Forbes lifted an arm to signal the bartender. After he had given his order, he said, "I won't be a stranger much longer. I'm figuring on locating here."

"Going in business?"
"Drug store. I've been looting over the ground to see if it would pay."
"You know we've got one, of course?"
Forbes nodded. "Room for another one—a good one. Thought I'd see how things were going in Oklahoma City,
thought, before I made up my mind."
"You know," Harrison said boldly,
"I've been bothered by the notion that I've seen you before some place. Is that possible?"
"Been to Chicago?"
Tony nodded.
"Well, that's where I'm from." Forbes laughed a little drily. "Folks are not likely to forget this face," and he indicated the scar. "Butler around," he explained, "piled up my cheek considerable, didn't it?"
He shifted impatiently and glanced about him. "Got a poker game on,"
he explained apologetically and withdrew.
Harrison watched him as he sat
down at a nearby table, and frowned.
He heard his own name called a moment later and a bit reluctantly walked across the room and repped into the seat that was reserved for him by his friends.

He played mechanically, with only a half-hearted interest in the cards, and from time to time he found himself
staring absently toward the table
where sat Forbes.
The man's back was to him, though,
and Forbes presented nothing more than a sleek black head and a pair of broad shoulders.
"There's something on your mind, Tony," Fred Perkins laughed as he gathered in a sizable "pot." "I raised the ante drew two cards, and you called me with two little pair. That ain't natural for you."
Harrison shrugged and smiled. "Too much business," Fred. "To Jenkins, the restaurant owner, he said, 'That partner of mine thinks up more things for me to do than I can attend to in working hours and criticizes me when I carry them in my mind at night. All right; deal me a hand—and look out for me. I'm out for blood.'"
He picked up his cards, saw two kings and announced: "She's off," and threw in a chip. Others clinked beside it.
"Everybody stays," said Jenkins,
who was dealing. "How many cards, Harrison?"
"Three." When they fell in front of him he slipped them, unlooked at, between his pair of kings and shuffled
the five cards face down.
"Now let me peel down, Fred," he began—and stooped short.
There were four kings in his hand
and an illuminating flash of memory darting through his brain. He turned quickly in quest of Forbes but the man had left, at least he was not at the table where Tony had last seen him.
His eyes roved the crowded room. Not there. Very well, then, he thought.
Leaving a winning hand and an un-cached stack of chips on the table, he pushed back his chair and darted for the door. His companions too overcome with astonishment for speech.
When he had vanished through the door, Fred Perkins leaned over the table and picked up Tony's cards.
"Four kings!" he announced in feeble amazement, and slid back in his chair.
"Now, what the hell—" he broke off,
to stare weakly at the cards.
In the street, Tony Harrison was saying to himself "I knew it—I knew I wasn't wrong. Now, if he's only at the hotel—if he didn't get scared at what I said and light out—"

The way to the hotel led past his own store, which stood just two doors away from the bank. He proceeded at a run, stumbling now and then over a rut, for there were no street lights in Guthrie yet and the sky was overcast and black. The far-off rumble of thunder accompanied him down the street and once he tripped and sprawled his length on the ground, to pick himself up, cursing, and hasten on.
Far off a light shone through the blackness. From the bank, he told himself. It would be Morrison, the cashier, who religiously devoted one night a week to "checking things up." Morrison—what was it Morrison had said about the scar-faced man—that he hadn't inspired him with confidence?
"Morrison's own words," he whispered and ran on.
His eyes, accustomed better to the darkness now, could discern fairly clearly the gaunt outlines of the hard-addition under construction. Perkins ware store and the frame-work of the and Harrison, a "going" business—and nine years ago.

man who killed his father.

GERMAN DOCTOR GIVES
HINT FOR FARSIGHTED

Munich.—(AP)—As a simple and effective expedient for alleviating without glasses the farsightedness which comes with age, the ophthalmologist
Dr. Kurt L. Elmer recommends focusing the eye on printed matter or any other desired objects through a crevice formed by the middle and index fingers of the hand with the palm turned outward.
Dr. Elmer points out that Hermann von Helmholtz, physicist and physiologist, first established the phenomenon that individuals afflicted with the farsightedness prevalent beyond the age of 50 can often see very well and even read without their glasses if they look through a small opening or slit.
In the farsightedness of advanced life, the lens of the eye records not one but two images: a hazy upper one and a clear and well defined lower

Doctor Found Women
and Children Sick
More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls"
were on women, children and babies.
They are the ones most often sick.
But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation.
They were constipated.
In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47-year's practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula, the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr.
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.
Its great success is based on merit,
on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.
While women, children and elderly
people are especially benefited by Dr.

Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. It is mild and gentle in its action and does not cause griping and strain. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest ba-
by. Children like it and take it wil-

The Things That Have Made Wisconsin Famous

Wisconsin train carrying public officials and citizens has hit the high spots of the Southland, and a message has been given the outside world, telling of the things that have made Wisconsin famous. An exhibit as a part of Wisconsin's message to the nation bore fruit in every state where it was shown. It was a journey of good will into a highly productive territory that Wisconsin is fast cultivating.

At the same time Governor Zimmerman and other executives gave interesting statistics from which we briefly quote:

The total resources in all banks in Wisconsin have increased from $455,000,000 to $1,068,000,000, and the assets of building and loan associations from $17,000,000 to $150,000,000. The latter figures tell the story of Wisconsin's building activity better than any picture we can paint. Sixty-four per cent of all families in Wisconsin own their own homes, and eighty-five per cent of all farmers own their farms.

Wisconsin, although the twenty-fifth state in area and the thirteenth state in population, is the fifth in the gross value of farm products, and the tenth in manufacturing. In the last ten years the rate of increase in manufacturing exceeded that of New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Illinois. Wisconsin ranks third of all states in surfaced highways, and fifth in concrete highways. Wisconsin's municipal bonds bear the lowest rate of interest of the bonds of any state. Diversified farming and diversified industries tell the story of Wisconsin's greatness. It ranks ninth of the forty-eight states in the production of tobacco and first in the production of canning peas. It produced one-fifth of the clover seed of the nation in 1925, and in dairy, cattle and dairy products leads all states by a big margin.

Anyone interested in further information dealing with statistics on Wisconsin can receive a copy of "On Wisconsin!" souvenir of the official state of Wisconsin southern tour, by applying to the Conservation Commission, Madison, Wis.

BROWN COUNTY STARTS CAMPAIGN FOR SOIL IMPROVEMENT

COUNTY AGENT GIVES PHOSPHORIC ACID AS SOIL STRENGTHENER

Should Be Distributed Evenly to Aid Small Grains, Kavanaugh Says

BY E. F. WINSEY
Green Bay—County J. N. Kavanaugh, who has started his spring work of teaching farmers in this locality the value of furnishing fertilizer for deep soil, said today that the stress on the good being done by phosphoric acid.

In a recent information bulletin he said: "On the average, 10 pounds of phosphoric acid should be returned to the soil for each acre in such crops as corn, oats, and clover, if all are fed, or 30 pounds once in a rotation. That amount of phosphoric acid would be contained in about 500 pounds of 16 percent super phosphate, 150 pounds of the 20 percent grade or about 60 pounds of the 45 percent grade. This is approximately the amount of phosphate fertilizer which, in order to maintain the supply of the element, should be used once in three years on the main fields of the average dairy or general farm."

If the soil has been more or less depleted of its phosphorus by a number of years of cropping, then larger amounts should be used for the first rotation period when the improvement is begun. Usually 300 pounds of 20 percent super phosphate is recommended on farms which have been farmed for 20 or 30 years.

"The time when the phosphate is applied to the soil is not a matter of importance, since it is quickly absorbed and fixed so that there is very little, if any, loss by leaching. In general, it is best to have the fertilizer as evenly distributed through the soil as possible so that small grains and clover, as well as corn, will be benefited. Clover and alfalfa are both relatively high in protein and are generally benefited more by phosphate fertilizer than are the other crops mentioned."

"The best means of securing even distribution of the phosphate is by the use of a grain drill having a fertilizer attachment. This machine applies the phosphate evenly and will apply as little as 50 to 75 pounds as well as larger amounts to the acre. This is a great advantage when using 45 percent super phosphate, which is generally applied at the low rate of 100 pounds per acre."

Machines, either of the hopper or end gate seeder form, that are usually used for the distribution of limestone do not prove satisfactory for distributing phosphates in amounts of less than 250 pounds to the acre. These machines are satisfactory for the distribution of rock phosphate, which is applied at the rate of 500 to 1,000 pounds to the acre."

"A very convenient and satisfactory method is to spread the proper amount of the phosphate fertilizer evenly over the manure on the manure spreader. The phosphate applied in this way is distributed quite evenly, particularly if the manure spreader is equipped with a wide spread attachment at the rear. The manure and phosphate may be applied to the land which is being fitted for the corn or as a top dressing on clover and alfalfa seedling. If, for instance, the spreader is set to apply eight loads of manure to the acre and it is desired to put on 200 pounds of acid phosphate, then 25 pounds of the phosphate should be spread evenly over each load."

BOYS CAN 7,000 CANS OF FRUIT

Cooking is a popular art among boys at the Montana industrial school. Directed by Mrs. L. E. Jenkins (right) the boys above have canned and cooked the winter supply of vegetables.

Miles City, Mont. (AP)—Boys at Montana State industrial school are becoming expert cooks under the tutelage of Mrs. L. E. Jenkins, kitchen matron. They have cooked and canned more than 7,000 quarts of fruit, jellies, pickles and vegetables from produce which they raised on the second farm. They also have canned the school lunch with five barrels of sauerkraut, three barrels of pickled cucumbers and 1,500 pounds of popcorn.

The vegetable and fruit rooms at the industrial school are piled high with jars of tomatoes, beans, corn, beets, peas, rhubarb, plums, relishes and preserves. The collection, officials say, would compare favorably with food exhibits at any county fair. Interest the boys have displayed in cooking classes is credited with helping the school to reach practically a self-supporting basis. In summer they are employed on the land, which irrigated yields sufficient crops to sustain the livestock of the institution and keep the inhabitants in food. With an average population of 135 during the year, the per capita cost of the school is placed at only $1.19.

CATTLE AND SOIL TO BE SPEAKING TOPICS
Amundson, Kavanaugh and Bixby Scheduled to Talk at Mill Center Feb. 23
Green Bay—A one-day institute, sponsored by a local committee, of which Albert Panperin is chairman, will be held in Krupp's Hall, Mill Center, Feb. 23. The speakers will be J. N. Kavanaugh, county agent, Robert Amundson, county agent, and Phil Bixby, president of the Outagamie-Columbia County Cattle Growers' Association. Hot dogs and coffee will be served at the institute.

In the forenoon, at 10 o'clock, Mr. Kavanaugh will explain the soil campaign that is to be launched soon in Brown county, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon will talk on feeding the dairy herd. Mr. Amundson is to talk on dairy herd improvement at 10:30 in the forenoon and again at 2:30. At 2 o'clock Mr. Bixby is to talk on cabbage growing.

As cabbage raising, dairy herd improvement, feeding the dairy herd and productive soils are timely and practical subjects, considerable interest in the institute has already developed. After each of the chief talks, questions will be invited and each speaker may help to clear knotty problems.

SEEKS GOOD RATION FOR NON-LAYING HENS
Greenleaf—Mrs. Edward Wuerger, route 3, who has a flock of 60 White Leghorn pullets that are now laying, is considering the use of the Wisconsin mash ration for laying flock and is wasting dry hoppers that can be made at a cost of 50 cents and is described in Circular No. 154, Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, and that may be had by application to J. N. Kavanaugh, Brown county agent.

An egg-producing ration being considered consists of 100 pounds of ground corn, 100 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of wheat bran, 100 pounds of wheat middlings, 100 pounds of meat scraps and 5 pounds of common salt. This is fed in hoppers. A good scratch feed consists of equal parts of corn and wheat.

Mrs. Wuerger's new crop is 18 by 20 feet.

FARMERS TELL ABOUT ADVANTAGES TO LAND AFTER FERTILIZATION

Farmers from All Parts of Country Attend Meeting at Green Bay Saturday

Green Bay—About 70 farmers representing all parts of Brown county met at the home of Mrs. L. E. Jenkins last Saturday afternoon for the launching meeting of the soil improvement campaign for Brown county. The meeting was called to order by County Agent J. N. Kavanaugh, who described the purpose of the soil improvement campaign and the plan which would be followed. He introduced Professor Richards of the soil department who described the campaign thoroughly.

Mr. Richards stated that alfalfa hay was a farmer's best asset. During the past year he stated it was possible to raise alfalfa without applying lime to some farms. Mr. Richards strongly urged every farmer to have his soil tested and see if it is acid, and if it is, lime it.

PHOSPHORUS NOT RETURNED
Mr. Richards read the results of 62 samples of soil from all parts of Brown county which were tested by him for phosphorus and lime. Over half of these samples show a deficiency of phosphorus and many of them were low in lime content. He stated that unless there is 75 pounds of available phosphorus per acre, the supply is too low for profitable crop production. Many of the soils from Brown county contain as low as 20 pounds of available phosphorus per acre. This low phosphorus content of the soils is due to the sale of grain, livestock and livestock products from the farm. Some phosphorus is brought back to the farm in the form of dairy feeds. On most farms the phosphorus balance is not kept up, however.

Mr. Richards strongly urged every farmer to have his soils tested for phosphorus. This test is made free of charge. Application for this test should be made to the county agent. Mr. Richards stated that the average gain per acre on alfalfa in Wisconsin due to the application of phosphorus was 1,400 pounds per acre. He stated that the proper way to apply super phosphate was to apply it in the spring of the year to grain which is to be seeded to alfalfa or clover. He stressed the importance of mixing it with the soil to a depth of 3 or 4 inches. He said grain crop often pays for the phosphorus and the increase in alfalfa brought returns of several hundred per cent. He also recommended the application of 250 to 300 pounds of phosphate costing from $2.75 to $4.50 per acre. Application for this test should be made to the county agent.

HELPED THEIR CROPS
Emil Jacobson of Ashwaubenon said "We seldom were able to grow ripe corn until we were advised to apply super phosphate. We now apply 300 pounds of super phosphate per acre. In addition to this we drill in 100 pounds of 21-2-2 per acre."

Henry Hoffert, town of De Pere, said, "I have been using phosphate for a number of years with very good results. I notice the grain is heavier where I used super phosphate and the effects of the phosphate can be seen on the alfalfa for several years."

William Zuber, town of Rockland, said "I have been using phosphate for a number of years and it has helped my crops. I notice the grain is heavier where I used super phosphate and the effects of the phosphate can be seen on the alfalfa for several years."

EQUITY ASSOCIATION SHOWS GOOD PROFITS
Both Store and Shipping Departments at Greenleaf Made Money in 1927
BY W. F. WINSEY
Greenleaf—In the store and live stock department of Greenleaf Equity Cooperative Association, a total loss of $139,025.78 was done in 1927 and of that total, $56,559.52 was lost to the store and $82,977.26 to the live stock department. The merchandise inventory Jan. 1, 1927, was $13,318.93 and merchandise purchases in 1927 $49,979.31. Merchandise inventory Dec. 31, 1927, was $19,051.71. The cost of sales was $48,127.13 leaving a gross profit of $7,852.59 and net profit of $3,212.12.

In the stock department, the net receipts were $82,972.85. The disbursement to patrons were $81,159.99 and net profit $1,812.86. Sixty-four carloads of livestock were shipped. The members of the board of directors of the Greenleaf association are M. J. Leich, president; Charles Brandt, vice president; William Kinkler, treasurer; Jacob Rose, secretary and shipper; and Archie Deak, R. Dolph Veltrick and P. J. Peters, directors.

Martin VanLanen, town of Scott, Joseph Hoskins, town of Rockland, and Henry Hain, town of Holland, stated that they used super phosphate with very good results. Albert Panperin said he saw a demonstration of the value of fertilizer on corn and potatoes last summer. Where no fertilizer was used, corn was only 6 inches high and water-corn appeared. If fertilizer was made the corn averaged a foot and a half in height.

FARM COURSE TAKES WELL WITH STUDENTS
Waupaca—The high school of the Waupaca school district, which has a vocational department, is conducting a farm course. This course is for the purpose of giving the students a practical knowledge of the value of the farm. The course is being conducted by Mr. E. A. Kavanagh, county agent, and is being held in the Waupaca high school. The course is being held for a period of six weeks, from February 1 to February 28. The course is being held for the purpose of giving the students a practical knowledge of the value of the farm.

MIGHTY FINE OF YOU FOLKS TO INVITE ME TO STAY HERE - BUT I SIMPLY MUST HEAD BACK TOWARD CHILE TOMORROW

GEE, THAT'S A FUNNY NAME FOR A COUNTRY - IS IT REALLY CHILLY DOWN THERE?

OH, MY NO, AMY - AS A MATTER OF FACT, IN THE DAYTIME IT'S PRETTY WARM - OF COURSE, AT NIGHT, IT DOES GET A BIT CHILLY - BUT THAT HASN'T ANYTHING TO DO WITH THE NAME OF THE COUNTRY

WELL, ANYWAY, IT ISN'T GONNA BE SO CHILLY FOR ME AT NIGHT, AFTER YOU'VE GONE

WHAT MAKES YOU THINK THAT?

WELL, FRECKLES, HOW DO YOU LIKE BEING ON THE OCEAN?

OH, I THINK IT'S JUST FINE, UNCLE HARRY! I'M GOING TO WRITE HOME AND TELL THEM ALL ABOUT IT!

TO LOOK AT IT YOU WOULDN'T EVER THINK THIS WAS A BOAT - IT'S MORE LIKE A BIG HOTEL!

I'LL WRITE TO ALEX AND TELL HIM ABOUT WHAT A NICE BOAT MY UNCLE HARRY'S TAKIN' ME ON, AND ABOUT THE FLYING FISH I SAW AND ALL THE NICE THINGS I HAVE TO EAT - I'LL SHOW THIS LETTER TO THE OTHER FELLAS!

I CAN'T DO IT AFTER ALL - IT ISN'T RIGHT FOR ME TO TELL THEM OF ALL THE NICE THINGS UNCLE HARRY'S DOING FOR ME WHEN THEY CAN'T BE HERE TO ENJOY THEM WITH ME!

Fishing Craft

The boat above is the Columbia, fishing schooner of Gloucester, Mass., that went to sea one day and never came back. The Columbia was one of the finest of those sailboats that brave men of the Gloucester fleets take out for cod and mackerel. A Gloucester captain, Andrew Robinson, is said to have designed the schooner type of sailboat in 1713.

This boat, laden with oysters, is steam driven. It drags a rake or tongs along the bed of the ocean.

Small boats such as this are used by fishermen going out to take large fish from nets which are stretched across channels.

Here is the fishing trawler Surf, after a trip through heavy seas in extreme cold weather. The picture was taken as the boat was entering Boston harbor, laden with fish and draped with ice. Sometimes ice forms so thick on the cabin windows that they must be broken so men can see out. Fishing trips are adventurous.

OIL CONCERNS DRAG FIGHT FOR LAND TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS

War Clouds Loomed in Near East When Magnates Fought for Control

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eighth, a series of articles on "How Long Will Our Oil Last?"

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington — The oil reserves of Persia, Mesopotamia and Turkey have been estimated as nearly six billion barrels, so it was inevitable that British and American petroleum interests should clash in a struggle for control in the Near East.

At one stage of that struggle there was even serious discussion of the possibility of war between Britain and the United States. Compromise between the Standard and Anglo-Persian oil companies finally dispelled the war clouds, but not before the world had observed the seriousness of the constant battle for its oil resources.

Mesopotamia and Persia are too different stories. Let's consider the Mesopotamian story first.

OIL MANDATES
Undoubtedly with an eye to oil, Great Britain obtained League of Nations mandates in Palestine and Mesopotamia after the war and France took over Syria. Britain had sent more troops into this territory than military necessities warranted and apparently in an effort to obtain French aid there had promised her a barren area in Northeast Mesopotamia which proved to include the rich petroleum fields around Mosul. Chances for a time governed the region as a result of Anglo-Franco-Turkish warfare and intrigue, but in 1914 France and Turkey signed a treaty giving the territory to Turkey and its oil to France. This left Britain out in the cold, and very angry.

In the spring of 1921 the British had made their own final line of the new state of Iraq. Iraq's boundaries were not defined presumably in the hope that it might be stretched out to include Mosul. Shortly prior to the Lausanne conference of 1922, which was to revise the Turkish peace treaty of 1919, an Iraqi army, led by Anglo-Indian officers, took over the oil region "to defend and liberate their countrymen from the cruel oppression of the Turks."

Britain and France framed an ultimatum for presentation to the Turks at Lausanne which was supposed to have been agreed to by France in return for British support of Poincaré's occupation of the Ruhr. The would have turned all the Mesopotamian oil over to England. But France suddenly deserted Britain. The conference broke up and reassembled in April, 1923.

U. S. PROTESTS
The United States had not been asleep all this time. It woke up, in fact, about the time of the Franco-British-San Remo petroleum agreement of 1920, which would have divided up the oil between Britain and France to the virtual exclusion of the United States. President Wilson had protested this partition and at his direction Ambassador John W. Davis advised the British Foreign Office that the San Remo agreement would "result in a grave infringement of the mandate principle."

Authorities saw a "dangerous" situation. Oil was regarded as a potential cause of war. Serious trouble probably was averted by a deal through which the Anglo-Persian company let Standard Oil in Mesopotamia and Standard let Anglo-Persian in on her concessions in the North Persian fields. Everyone began to talk peace and brotherly love again and the League of Nations soon ratified the mandates America had protested.

MOTHER AIDS TAXI-KILLER

Mrs. Hazel Snyder, mother of 29-year-old Doris Palmer McDonald, who is sentenced to hang with her husband at Montreal, March 25, for the murder of a taxi driver, has employed legal aid in Chicago to help her daughter fight for her life. Above, left to right, are Attorney James O'Brien; Mrs. Margaret Gould, former governor of Doris; Helen Hartough, Chicago Women's Protective Association; and Mrs. Snyder.

In the next year the Persian parliament defied the big powers and broke up the British-American deal. Under the Lausanne treaty thus negotiated, the League of Nations finally awarded Mosul to Iraq, which made a cash settlement with Turkey for the oil rights. Last year an agreement was completed for a company to exploit the Mesopotamian fields, by which shares and production are to be split four ways. The Royal Dutch Shell, the Anglo-Persian, a French group and an American group dominated by Standard Oil each have a 25 per cent interest, with the British dominating.

A 30,000-BARREL GUSHER
The news late in October that a first well in Mosul had been brought in, proving to be a 30,000-barrel-a-day gusher impossible at first to control, was regarded here as a signal for the battle for Mesopotamian oil to start all over again, through all sorts of skulduggery.

Meanwhile, the rich fields of North Persia lie idle. The Anglo-Persian long ago gained control of the South Persian fields, but North Persia was a Russian sphere of influence. Before the Russian revolution, the czar's men forced concessions there from Persia and these were sold to Anglo-Persian when the Bolsheviks gained control. Both Russia and Persia repudiated these concessions in 1921 and Anglo-Persian hasn't had a foothold there since. The only outlet for North Persia oil is through Russia and furthermore, Persia doesn't want British oil men to dominate her whole area any more than Russia wants them too near the Caucasus.

TOMORROW: The Latin-American oil situation.

King Finds No Bargain Day When War Is Started

Geneva — (AP) — Immense and far-reaching are the economic consequences of the world war.

Even neutral Portugal is now added to the list of countries seeking aid from the League of Nations in economic and financial rehabilitation because of the conflict.

But the farthest cry comes from the bush negroes in the interior of Dutch Guiana, who fear demoralization of their economic life as a result of the struggle.

League officials see a new manifestation of the need for outlawry of war.

group dominated by Standard Oil each have a 25 per cent interest, with the British dominating.

The letter was read to him by a native interpreter, who translated it into the idiomatic tongue of the bush negroes. Adjankoso, a man of huge bulk, was pleased with the response to his appeal for peace and he was tremendously impressed with the photograph.

Haltingly and modestly he unbundled his soul. As chief, he said, he perceived with heavy heart the sufferings of his tribe because of the high cost of articles imported from beyond his realm. Distress grew more acute when some 1,500 of his tribesmen, employed in transport work on the rivers, found diminished the buying power of the French franc, with which they are in the case of the primitive tribe of Ashomhops and their leader, Adjankoso. The ruler, "great upper chieftain of the Saramaccaners," dwells with his people on the up reaches of the Suriname river. He can neither read nor write, so when he gets a letter he punctures a hole in one corner of the envelope, ties a string through the hole and hangs the missive from the rafters of his hut. Sometimes he gazes for months and months upon the mystic message. But he never opens it.

Last summer Adjankoso had a letter sent to his great white chieftainess, Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands, setting forth that he and his people had just heard of the great war. He rejoiced that it had ended and urged the white men to slay no more, but dwell in peace.

The letter was passed on to Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League of Nations, who replied to the chief in a communication explaining that the league labored unceasingly so that peace might reign among all people. He sent with the letter a large photograph of the league assembly at Geneva.

Mindful of Adjankoso's illiteracy and of his habit of hanging unread letters on the walls of the royal hut, the governor-general of Dutch Guiana hit upon the plan of having the chief come from the interior to Paramaribo to receive the missive.

The chief arrived and in great state

paid because of the nearness of French Guiana.

"Fourexing these ills, Adjankoso learned one day from travelers that all this was a result of the world war. 'I fear,' he concluded, 'that new strife may come that would ruin us altogether.'

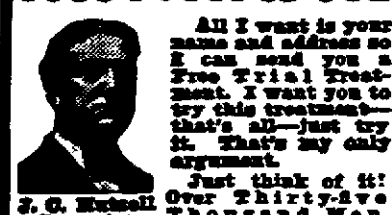

Now he has sent another letter to the league, begging earnestly that no more war shall come upon the earth. And at bottom, league officials point out, the ills of his people arise from the same circumstances which have sent Portugal to Geneva seeking help.

HOW TO FIGHT EXCESS FAT

There are hard ways, like starvation, but fewer and fewer employ them. There is a pleasant way, modern and scientific, which combats the cause. A vast number of people now use it. And the slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.
